

ROUND TABLE REVIEWS ROAD LEGISLATION

The views of the Pennsylvania Motor Federation and its affiliated AAA automobile clubs in relation to legislation now pending or in prospect were discussed Friday evening at a "legislative round table" held in Chambersburg.

George W. Miller, manager of the Adams County Motor Club, was among the area club officers and members present.

Senators Douglas H. Elliott, Chambersburg, representing the Adams-Franklin district, and George N. Wade, Camp Hill, chairman of the Senate highway committee; and Assemblymen Enos H. Horst Jr., Chambersburg, and Carl M. Barton, New Bloomfield, were among those present.

Charles E. Pugh, Harrisburg, secretary-manager of the P.M.F., outlined the federation's legislative program and its progress for the 30 persons present.

Building May Lag

Discussing the highway program, Pugh said that there is opinion prevalent in official circles that as conditions now exist it is possible that the program may lag in 1961-62 because expenditures are exceeding the amount of money going into federal highway trust funds.

He said that similar problems exist in Harrisburg. He pointed out that the federal administration wants a one and one-half cents federal gasoline tax increase but that at least 30 governors are opposed. State officials indicate that.

MUSSELMAN'S BUILD PLANT

A new cold storage plant is being erected at the C. H. Musselman Co. plant at Biglerville for the handling of fancy pack fruit.

The new structure, designed by Buchart Associates, York, will be a 110 by 125 feet with a 100,000-bushel capacity. A critical temperature of 29-31 degrees and a high relative humidity (in excess of 90%) will be maintained at all times.

Design of the plant will permit complete palletized operations. Location of packing areas and automatic remote control doors will permit tractors and field trailers to be driven from the orchard into the storage areas. The space between the packing area and the cooling area will be roofed-over to permit loading, unloading and shipping under cover. No columns will be used between the two areas, permitting complete traffic freedom.

The new plant will be in operation by Labor Day.

GOP Will Hold National Convention In Chicago

WASHINGTON (AP)—Republicans today picked Chicago for their 1960 national convention, starting July 25.

The GOP National Committee acted speedily and without debate on the recommendation of a site committee that selected Chicago over five other cities.

Richard Cooper of New Hampshire, a member of the site committee, offered the resolution. It was seconded by Edward S. Shattuck of California.

The Democrats have picked Los Angeles for their national convention starting July 11.

Ray C. Bliss, Ohio state chairman and head of the Republican site committee, announced his group's selection of Chicago. He said the convention will meet in the International Amphitheater.

Bliss said there was some sentiment for an August convention, but the site group finally concluded that Chicago's auditorium and hotel facilities offset the date factor.

$400,000, Free Hall
Chicago had limited its bid of $400,000 cash plus a free hall and other benefits to a July 25 meet-

POLICE PROBE 2 ACCIDENTS FRIDAY NIGHT

After a week without highway crashes state police were called out to two accidents Friday night.

An automobile owned by Mrs. Grace Smith, New Oxford, was demolished, the damage was estimated at $650, another car had $100 damage, a utility pole was broken and a youth injured.

The crash occurred, police said, three miles north of Hanover on the Cross Keys Rd. Charles W. Lake, 31, of Hanover, driving a 1950 Chevrolet, turned from the road to Hanover. Moments later his auto was struck by the southbound Smith auto operated by John L. Smith, 18, New Oxford. The Smith car left the highway and struck and broke off a telephone pole. David Emig, 17, Abbotstown R. 1, a passenger in the car, suffered lacerations of the forehead and lip but did not immediately seek medical attention.

Early Morning Mishap

At 2:10 o'clock this morning the officers were called to the Hanover Hospital where Lloyd F. Shaffer, 28, Abbotstown, had been admitted for treatment of a broken right arm and wrist and a laceration of the face. Shaffer told the officers he was driving south on the New Oxford-Hanover Rd. 1 1/2 miles south of New Oxford at a curve when he said, a northbound motorist forced him off the highway. Shaffer's car left the road, climbed an embankment and broke off a telephone pole. Damage was estimated at $300 to the car and $50 to the pole.

GOP Will Hold National Convention In Chicago

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republicans today picked Chicago for their 1960 national convention starting July 25.

The GOP National Committee acted speedily and without debate on the recommendation of a site committee that selected Chicago over five other cities.

Richard Cooper of New Hampshire, a member of the site committee, offered the resolution. It was seconded by Edward S. Shattuck of California.

The Democrats have picked Los Angeles for their national convention starting July 11.

Ray C. Bliss, Ohio state chairman and head of the Republican site committee, announced his group's selection of Chicago. He said the convention will meet in the International Amphitheater.

Bliss said there was some sentiment for an August convention, but the site group finally concluded that Chicago's auditorium and hotel facilities offset the date factor.

$400,000, Free Hall

Chicago had limited its bid of $400,000 cash plus a free hall and other benefits to a July 26 meet-

COUPLE WED IN XAVIER CHURCH THIS MORNING

Miss Patricia Ann Sentz, daughter of Mrs. John Sentz, N. Stratton St., became the bride of Richard A. Wierman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Wierman Sr., McSherrystown, in a Nuptial Mass at 10 o'clock this morning in St. Francis Xavier Church. The double-ring ceremony was performed by Rev. Fr. Anthony F. Kane.

The altar was decorated with snapdragons and gladioli. Mrs. Bernard Frazer sang "Panis Angelicus," "Ave Maria," "The Lord's Prayer" and "O Lord, I Am Not Worthy." Mrs. George F. Eberhart was the organist.

The bride was given in marriage by her brother, Guy R. Sentz. She was attired in a gown of scalloped Chantilly lace separated by panels of tulle. The underskirt was made of net ruffles. The lace bodice had a scalloped Sabrina neckline and long sleeves of Chantilly lace ending at a point just below her wrist. Her veil of imported French silk illusion was set off by a border of imported French Chantilly lace, while her Swedish imperial crown was made of regal rhinestone settings. She carried a white orchid atop a prayer book, a gift of the groom.

Matron Of Honor

Mrs. Bruce Swain, Baltimore, Md., was matron of honor. She wore a ballerina length gown of aqua imported silk organza with a bouffant skirt, a fitted bodice and a rounded scoop neckline. She carried a cascade bouquet of aqua and yellow carnations. Miss Mary Ann George, Gettysburg, was the attendant and wore a yellow gown matching that of the matron of honor.

Robert Wierman Jr., brother of the groom, was best man. The ushers were Carroll Sneeringer, Hanover R. 4, and Donald Rohrbaugh, Gettysburg.

The bride's mother wore a navy blue dress with blue accessories and a white orchid corsage. The groom's mother wore a navy blue lace dress with a white orchid corsage.

Reception This Evening

A reception will be held at 7 o'clock this evening at the Knights of Columbus Hall, McSherrystown. The couple will reside at 210 W. Middle St.

The bride, a 1954 graduate of Gettysburg High School, is employed at the Department of Internal Revenue, Harrisburg. The groom, a 1952 graduate of Delone Catholic High School, served with the U.S. Army. He is now employed at the Hanover Shoe Store, Hanover.

Out-of-town guests were from Baltimore; Marion, Ohio; Hershey, Harrisburg, Carlisle and York.

College Day To Be Marked Sunday

Gettysburg College students will take part in the second service Sunday morning at the Presbyterian Church here when National Christian College Day will be observed.

The Rev. Robert A. MacAskill, pastor, will preach at the 8:30 and the 10:45 o'clock services on "Living on the Edge."

At the second service Jack Sankey will serve as organist and Lorrie Bohlander will be the soloist. The call to worship and invocation will be given by Johanna Menge and the responsive reading will be conducted by Elaine Mook. The scripture reading will be by William Rexrode and Lewis Crowl Jr. will offer prayer. The ushers also will be college students.

The National Council of Churches of Christ, through its Commission on Higher Education, sponsors observance of College Day by Protestant denominations.

To Name Chairman

In addition to making the final decision on the convention site, the Republican National Committee later today will select a new chairman to succeed Meade Alcorn who resigned.

Sen. Thurston Morton of Kentucky, who has Presidential approval, was expected to be picked.

You're driving down a highway at night. The bright lights of the oncoming car blind you. If you're smart you (a) counteract the effect of the other car's lights by flicking on yours, (b) speed up so you can get past the other car quicker, (c) slow down and keep your eyes on the right edge of the road.

If you picked "c" you're hep to the safer points of driving, the National Safety Council says. And if you didn't? Well, see if you can't do better on these questions:

1. Good drivers know they should brake (a) before entering a curve, (b) on the curve.
2. It's advisable to slow down below the posted speed limit when (a) other traffic is whizzing past you, (b) it's raining, (c) a police car is behind you.
3. If the wheels of your car go off the right side of the road and onto a soft shoulder, you should (a) jerk the wheel to the left before the tires have a chance to sink down in the soft ground, (b) hit the brakes to stop the car quickly, (c) take your foot off the gas pedal and wait till your car

ATTEND FTA CONVENTION

Biglerville area students and teachers are playing a prominent part today in the annual convention of the Pennsylvania Future Teachers of America at Central Dauphin High School, Harrisburg. More than 500 students from throughout the state are present for the 11th annual session which has as its theme: "Big Things Ahead."

Miss Sue Bucher, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cyrus Bucher, Biglerville, and one of the representatives of the Charles L. Yost Club of the Future Teachers of America of the Upper Adams High School, Biglerville, served this morning as recorder for one of the discussion groups.

Miss Connie Stoner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Ralph Stoner, Biglerville, another delegate from the Biglerville High School, is secretary of the Southern District of the Future Teachers Association.

Serves As Moderator

Herbert P. Lady, Biglerville High School teacher who is advisor to the Biglerville group, served today as moderator for one of the discussion groups.

Featured speakers for the convention are state Senator Jo Hays, who will speak at the banquet meeting; Dorothy Harpster, chairman of the English Department, Upper St. Clair Township High School, keynote speaker; Dr. Fred Bryan, superintendent of schools in Harrisburg, and Dr. Charles Boehm, state superintendent of public instruction.

POLICE PROBE 2 ACCIDENTS FRIDAY NIGHT

After a week without highway crashes state police were called out to two accidents Friday night.

An automobile owned by Mrs. Grace Smith, New Oxford, was demolished, the damage was estimated at $650, another car had $100 damage, a utility pole was broken and a youth injured.

The crash occurred, police said, three miles north of Hanover on the Cross Keys Rd. Charles W. Lake, 31, of Hanover, driving a 1950 Chevrolet, turned from the Green Springs Rd. south on the road to Hanover. Moments later his auto was struck by the southbound Smith auto operated by John L. Smith, 18, New Oxford. The Smith car left the highway and struck and broke off a telephone pole. David Emig, 17, Abbottstown R. 1, a passenger in the car, suffered lacerations of the forehead and lip but did not immediately seek medical attention.

Early Morning Mishap

At 2:10 o'clock this morning the officers were called to the Hanover Hospital where Lloyd F. Shaffer, 28, Abbottstown, had been admitted for treatment of a broken right arm and wrist and a laceration of the face.

Shaffer told the officers he was driving south on the New Oxford-Hanover Rd. 1 1/2 miles south of New Oxford at a curve when, he said, a northbound motorist forced him off the highway. Shaffer's car left the road, climbed an embankment and broke off a telephone pole. Damage was estimated at $300 to the car and $50 to the pole.

14 CIVIL SUITS ARE SCHEDULED FOR MAY COURT

Fourteen civil suits are scheduled for trial at the May term of court, according to the trial list issued today by Prothonotary Herbert W. Miller. The term begins May 4.

The first three cases are actions in trespass growing out of a fatal accident on Christmas Day 1957 near Littlestown when a car owned by Robert W. Yingling, Littlestown R. D., and allegedly operated by Lloyd E. Eller, Littlestown R. D., was in a collision with a car operated by John M. Spangler, Hagerstown. Mr. Eller and Mr. and Mrs. Spangler were fatally injured. Yingling and the Spangler children were also injured.

In the first suit Lucy G. Eller and her son, David Allen Eller, are suing Yingling and Margaret R. Bailey, the administratrix of John Spangler's estate. In the second suit Mrs. Bailey, as administratrix and for the children of John Spangler, is suing Yingling and Lucy Eller as administratrix of Eller's estate. In the third suit Yingling is suing Mrs. Eller as administratrix of her husband's estate.

Actions In Tresspass

Sadie and Earl Burke, Thurmond, N. C., have brought an action in trespass against Shirley B. Nissen, Toledo, O., as a result of an auto accident November 12, 1955, at the Cross Keys intersection in which Mrs. Burke was injured.

Virginia Mae and Edgar Lynne Richards, Remington R. 2, Va., are suing Otis P. Hudson, Gettysburg R. 4, and Robert West, Gettysburg R. D., as a result of an auto crash December 11, 1956, on the Harrisburg Rd. six miles north of Gettysburg.

Preston B. and Marie K. Zerbe, York Springs, are suing Edward Maurice Baron, Baltimore, for an auto accident November 15, 1957, at the York Springs intersection.

Lula R. Valentine, Urbanna, Va., by her guardian, Louis E. Cutchins, Richmond, Va., has brought an action in replevin against Milton R. and Edna M. Tipton, 356 York St.

NO CHANGE IN IKE'S PLANS ON HIS VACATION

By MARVIN L. ARROWSMITH
AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — President Eisenhower's headquarters kept him Thursday on a suggestion he end his golfing vacation and make a personal inspection of jobless areas.

At the same time, however, there was no slightest indication the President intends to alter his vacation plans. All signs still are he will stay on at the Augusta National Golf Club until about April 19, with a brief interruption early next week to keep two previously announced Washington engagements.

The suggestion the President end his vacation in favor of a tour of unemployment areas was made in Washington Wednesday at the AFL-CIO jobless rally attended by more than 5,000 delegates. The proposal came from Mrs. Min Luyre Matheson of Wilkes-Barre, Pa.

No Comment
At the rally there were other critical allusions to Eisenhower's golf.

At a news conference Thursday James C. Hagerty, White House press secretary, was told about the criticism. He was asked whether Eisenhower had considered altering his vacation plans because of it.

"I haven't any comment whatsoever," Hagerty replied.

On another matter, Hagerty said in effect there has been no change in Secretary of State Dulles' plans to complete his rest period at Jobe Sound, Fla., before deciding whether he is physically able to continue in his Cabinet post.

No Change On Dulles
Hagerty was asked for comment on a published report (Washington Post and Times Herald) that Dulles will return to his job men."

Oklahoma 'Leggers Stuck With Stocks

TULSA, Okla. (AP)—Oklahoma bootleggers—faced with economic obsolescence—are wondering what to do about their liquor inventories.

Repeal of prohibition Tuesday figures to make legal liquor stores a reality by July 1, and bootleggers still have plenty of whisky on hand, the Tulsa World said today. "We've got to be able to have it all sold the day stores open," one bootlegger was quoted as saying. He suggested cutting prices. "Big Mac" McCarthy, who calls himself, "King of Bootleggers," was quoted by the World as saying: "I'm glad the state went wet. I've been sick of this grind for a long time."

Find Missing Boy Beaten To Death

DETROIT, Mich. (AP) — A 12-year-old boy, object of a night-long search by police and volunteers, was found beaten to death in a garage at the rear of his home in suburban Dearborn Thursday.

Police said a neighbor boy admitted that he had beaten Jeffrey Paxton to death after a quarrel. The neighbor boy was taken to police headquarters for questioning.

and concentrate on preparations for the Big Four foreign ministers conference to be held in Geneva next month.

"I can't confirm it," Hagerty said, adding that the situation still is as Eisenhower outlined it at a recent news conference.

"The President said publicly that the secretary of state was going to go away for a rest period and that a decision (on continuing in the Cabinet) would not be made until the secretary had had that rest," Hagerty said.

"That is exactly the way the situation now exists. There has been no announcement, information or statement between the two men."

2,000 KURD TRIBESMEN SENT TO IRAQ

CAIRO (AP)—Cairo radio says Iraq has granted entry visas to 2,000 Kurd tribesmen from the Soviet Union in addition to 355 who reportedly passed through the Suez Canal Monday on the Soviet liner Gruzia.

The broadcast gave no source of the information. There was no confirmation. The reported movement of Kurds from the Soviet Union has aroused fear that the Communist ranks in Baghdad are being strengthened.

Baghdad radio acknowledged that a Soviet vessel is expected to land a boatload of Kurds in the Iraqi port of Basra within 9 or 10 days. But it said these were repatriates who fled to the Soviet Union years ago and included 450 men, 108 women and 252 children.

Egyptian officials reported when the Soviet ship passed through the Suez Canal over the week end that 855 Kurdish men trained in guerrilla warfare were aboard, along with arms for them.

Sources close to the government of the United Arab Republic said it would not take any action on transfer of the Soviet Kurds to Iraq until they actually were on Iraqi territory.

The U.A.R. government's concern stems from its belief that the Kurds are being sent to Baghdad to strengthen Premier Abdel Karim Kassem in his feud with U.A.R. President Nasser and Iraqi Arab nationalists who oppose the growing Communist influence on Kassem's government.

YOKOSUKA, Japan (AP)—The U.S. Navy Thursday announced two casualties — a destroyer and a submarine — in an antisubmarine warfare exercise in the Western Pacific. Neither ship was badly hurt. The Navy said the submarine Raton was the target in a practice of new techniques of antisub warfare Sunday.

WEE RAILROAD STILL BUSY, MAKING MONEY

By RAY SHAW
CORYDON, Ind. (AP)—A railroad president nodded toward his line's single locomotive:

"We're unusual for this business. We don't owe anybody, and our stockholders, customers and employees are happy."

The Louisville, New Albany and Corydon Railroad is small—only eight miles long—but it's making money while most railroads are having troubles.

The railroad has assets of a quarter million dollars.

"We work hard at making money," said Bill Buchanan, president and general manager of the railroad. "The only way to run a railroad is for profit."

Leased Land
The railroad hauls freight for this Southern Indiana town of 3,000. Some of the town's two dozen small industries located here because the railroad sold or leased its land at low prices for plant sites.

The L. N. A., and C.'s tracks wind north to Corydon Junction, where it transfers outgoing goods to Southern Railway or Southern switches off cars to be brought to Corydon.

Most of the freight is furniture built in Corydon, grain for surrounding broiler farms, gasoline or building material.

The line's operation is simple and hasn't changed greatly since it was founded 75 years ago.

Out To Lunch
"We're probably the only railroad in the country that shuts down for lunch and weekends," Buchanan grinned.

The railroad's only rolling stock is a 6-year-old diesel locomotive named the "Betty Sue" and an ancient track car used by section hands. All box cars are leased from larger railroads.

A 30-year-old steam engine was scrapped when the diesel was bought.

"We were the first railroad in the country to be completely dieselized," Buchanan bragged.

Only 14 employees are needed to run the railroad and a truck line it owns.

Business Increase
Last year the railroad handled 1,832 cars, an increase of 517 over 1956. The truck line handled an additional 3,460 tons of freight.

The town has one other truck line but is not served directly by a major railroad.

Buchanan, whose business suit is a suede jacket and worn flannel trousers, likes to apply the railroad industry's problems to his own operation.

"Most railroads are in trouble because they priced themselves out of business. When they lost revenue to trucks, they raised rates to make up for the lost revenue. Then they lost more business."

"We give good rates and service," he said.

"Railroad and truck lines should get together and quit fighting over rates," Buchanan said. "There's plenty of business for both."

Social Happenings

For Social News Phone Gettysburg 1248 or 640

Martin H. Cronlund, Gettysburg College associate dean of admissions, is in Pittsburgh this weekend to meet prospective students.

The regular meeting of the Women of the Moose will be held Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock at the Moose Home. Two members will be enrolled and homemaker chapter night will be observed with Mrs. Florence Breneman presiding.

Mrs. Bernice Krumrine, home economics teacher at the high school, will speak on homemaking. Officers, escorts and committee chairmen are asked to wear their gowns. All co-workers are urged to be present. The doll project will be completed and sent to Mooseheart by the homemaker chairman.

A white elephant sale will be held and each member is asked to bring a gift. An old fashioned cake walk will be held and refreshments will be served.

A public card party will be held April 15 at 8 o'clock, for the benefit of the Women of the Moose. All co-workers desiring transportation to Chambersburg on Sunday are asked to report at the Moose home at 12:30 p.m.

Mr. and Mrs. James Houghton, Olean, N. Y., are visiting with Mrs. Violet Hill, Baltimore St.

The Soroptimist Club will hold a Pan American Day dinner on Tuesday evening at 6:30 o'clock at the YWCA. Guillermo Barriga, of the Gettysburg College faculty, will be the speaker. Members unable to attend are asked to notify Mrs. James Gregg.

The Barlow Homemakers Daytime group will meet Wednesday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock at the home of Mrs. George Geiselman, R. 1. Mrs. Helen Tunison, associate home economist, will give suggestions on mosaics. Each member is asked to bring a hammer, pliers, popsicle stick and a small jar.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Deardorff and family, N. Washington St., have moved to their new home on Sunset Ave.

The Gettysburg WCTU met Friday evening at the home of Mrs. Mary Zepp, E. Middle St. The theme was "Highways For Tomorrow's World For The LTL and YTC." Mrs. Zepp conducted the devotion on the theme "He Rose Again." After a hymn there were talks on "16 Reasons Why An American Youth Chooses Not To Drink," "Responsibility For Children" and "The Dime Story."

Then the skit "Afternoon Decision" was read. The meeting was followed by a social hour and refreshments. The next meeting will be held May 8 at the home of Mrs. Cora Berkey.

Mrs. Arthur E. Rice will read a review of Walter Van Tilburg Clark's "The Ox-Bow Incident" on Monday from 1 to 1:15 p.m. over WGET. This is another in the series of book reviews sponsored by the American Association of University Women.

Mrs. Mary Chronister, Elizabethtown, district director of the Pennsylvania Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs, and Miss Esther Henderson, member of the faculty of the Shippensburg State Teachers College and a member of the Chambersburg club, together with delegations from both clubs, visited the Business and Professional Women's Club of the YWCA Thursday evening to invite the local club to join the federation.

Mrs. Guyon E. Buehler, chairman of the Public Affairs committee, was in charge of the meeting and members of her committee served at the coffee hour which initiated the discussions.

Miss Martha Stallsmith poured and she was assisted by Mrs. James H. Harness, Miss Claire Brandon and Miss Mildred Walter, club secretary. The national YWCA assisted with the formation of the Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs and no longer carries a program for this type of work. Mrs. Lee Hartman, president of the local club, who led some of the discussion on Thursday evening, said every county in the state excepting Adams and Perry has a Federated Business and Professional Women's Club, and that the Gettysburg club would vote at the next business meeting on the matter of joining. Membership would not alienate local YWCA affiliations, she said.

BRITISH TAX RATE IS HARD ON WORKERS

By FRANK CORMIER
WASHINGTON (AP)—The British income tax, by American standards, hits hard at the man in the street but gives a big break to the investor, the speculator and the gambler.

Even after the tax cut announced last Tuesday, the average Englishman will pay considerably more than his American cousin.

The investor or speculator, however, will retain complete freedom from taxes on profits made in the stock market or through real estate deals. And the gambler will continue to pay no tax on his winnings.

Dividend Tax Small
Moreover, most Englishmen who collect dividends on stocks will—as in the past—pay little or no tax on these.

Dividends, capital gains and gambling winnings are, of course, taxed in the United States.

Why haven't the British tapped these revenue sources?

In the case of dividends, the English take the position that a corporation — by paying income and profits taxes in effect pays a dividend tax on behalf of its shareholders. To tax shareholders directly, they believe, would be unfair double taxation.

Many American stockholders take the same view and have agitated persistently, but without much success, for a similar concession.

As for capital gains and gambling winnings, these were not classed as taxable income under British tax law.

Still Pays More
The New British tax change, which will go into effect at mid-year, will lower the standard income tax rate to 33 1/2 per cent from 42 1/2 per cent. Here's how the standard rate system works:

While an American taxpayer claims exemptions and deductions to lower his taxable income, the Englishman claims "reliefs" from the standard rate. He gets one relief of $336 for himself and a second for the same amount if he's married. He also can claim a relief of $238 for each of his dependents and can deduct modest amounts for insurance premiums he pays.

On the first $1,008 of income, he is taxed at rates far below the standard levy.

Take the case of a married man with two children who is paid $5,600 a year. An American who claims the standard deduction will pay an income tax of about $328. An Englishman in the same situation will pay about $853 under the new rate. The cut will save him about $43.

"SEEK GOD"

When bad luck tosses you upon the wild seas of despair... it is a comfort just to know... the Lord is waiting there... in Him you'll find a harbor warm... where you can gain new hope... with faith in God you'll gather in... new faith to climb the slope... for mortal friends are seldom found... when the Ruler of mankind... awaits each needy call... remember this when luck is good... seek God to share your prize... don't turn your head away from Him... this act would not be wise.

slows down before returning to the highway.

4. On a steep hill, before your car gains too much momentum, it's wise to (a) use your brakes so the car won't pick up too much speed, (b) shift into a lower gear and use the motor for braking, (c) pull your parking brake on periodically.

Answers:

1. (a) Never brake on a curve, the safety council says. It can cause a skid. Good drivers cut their speed enough before entering a curve so they can accelerate very slightly as they round the curve.

2. (b) It's always smart to slow down below the posted speed limit in bad weather. Speed limits are set for normal, good-weather conditions.

3. (c) Keep a firm grip on the steering wheel and your foot off the brake and accelerator until your car slows down. Then—no! before—turn the wheel sharply toward the pavement.

4. (b) If you picked "a" you're a good bet to need some new brakes soon, maybe when you need to stop your car! Riding the brakes—in other words, braking constantly—on a hill is a sure way to burn them out. And parking brakes the council says, are for one purpose—parking. Use motor compression for downhill braking.

April 15 marks the 94th anniversary of the death of Abraham Lincoln. Visitors to the nation's capital will be interested in the rare items of historical significance related to that tragic event which are part of a permanent exhibit at the Medical Museum of the Armed Forces Institute of Pathology in Washington, D. C.

The handmade bullet which killed Lincoln, the probe which removed it, fragments of bone from the penetrated area and a copy of the report of the post-mortem examination signed by Dr. J. J. Woodward are some of the arresting memorabilia which serve as reminders of the 16th President's assassination.

An enlarged reproduction of the scene of Lincoln's death bed, sketched originally by Herman Faber, a medical artist who was the first person to enter the room after Lincoln's body had been removed, is prominently displayed. The original sketch — one of the

TRIO, WHO FLED ESCAPE-PROOF JAIL, CAUGHT

WILMINGTON, Del. (AP) — A trio of men who managed to get out of the "escape-proof" Passaic County jail in Paterson, N.J., are back in the clink today because they couldn't help looking like suspicious characters.

They overcame a guard Friday and headed South in an auto driven by a fourth man.

The escapees, who are being held for New Jersey authorities, were identified by police here as Joseph Van Atzinger, 32; John L. Carroll, 29, and Ronald Mattade, 24. The driver, who also was detained, was named as Joseph Brandecker of Passaic.

Sgt. Martin Krasnick, one of the Wilmington officers who arrested the three Friday, said they were stopped because they appeared suspicious.

They tried to bluff their way through routine questioning when the Wilmington officers stopped them on the edge of town, Krasnick said, but one slipped and gave his real name in response to one question.

Van Atzinger is formerly of Paterson. Carroll is from Lodi, N.J., and Mattade from Clifton, N.J.

Van Atzinger had been brought to the Passaic County Jail recently from West Virginia where he had been serving time for hold-ups. Carroll was in for stealing and Mattade for auto larceny.

Medical Museum's greatest treasures — is also on view, along with photographs of three different interpretations of the deathbed scene made by others within a few days after Lincoln's death.

In addition to a diorama of the stage of the Ford Theater and photographs of some of the outstanding medical men who were in attendance on Lincoln, the exhibit includes reproductions of Lincoln's life mask and castings of his hands. These were created by Avard Fairbanks, now resident sculptor at the University of Utah, for the Medical Museum in 1942 from original molds cast by Leonard Volk in 1860.

The most recent addition to the exhibit was made on the 150th anniversary of Lincoln's birth. It is the medical diploma of Dr. Robert King Stone, the president's personal physician.

It is most appropriate that the Medical Museum should make available a permanent exhibit of Lincoln's Assassination. When Abraham Lincoln was shot in the Ford Theater on April 14, 1865, he was attended by Army doctors, including General Joseph K. Barnes, surgeon general of the United States Army. One of the two Army doctors who performed a post-mortem, at the request of Lincoln's personal physician, was Dr. Joseph Janvier Woodward, then on the staff of the Medical Museum.

The museum took over the Ford Theater as its permanent quarters on December 8, 1866. The theater had closed to the public from the time of Lincoln's assassination. The museum remained at this location for twenty years.

Now located on Independence Avenue at 9th Street, S.W., the museum is open every day of the year. Leaflets of the Lincoln exhibit are available to all visitors.

REALISTIC MOVIE

MICHIGAN CITY, Ind. (AP) — A movie theater audience thought they could almost smell the smoke while watching a scene in which Indians were burning a white man at the stake. They could, but the smoke turned out to be drifting in from a nearby burning building, and the audience had to leave the theater.

After the original 13 colonies, the first states to be admitted to the union were Vermont, Kentucky, Tennessee and Ohio.

SAYS SOVIET ILLS BIGGEST

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Gov. Robert B. Meyner of New Jersey today said Soviet Russia's leaders have bigger headaches than the free world has.

In a speech prepared for delivery to the American Academy of Political Sciences, Meyner said the record of the past shows communism is not a doctrine that is likely to capture human imaginations and sweep the world.

"Look at Tibet, at Hungary, at Poland, at the failure of communism in South America, India and even in Africa," Meyner said.

"Ours Not So Bad"

"Yes we in America and in the other countries of the free world have our headaches," he said, "but they are not as bad as the migraines that afflict Communist leaders everywhere."

The governor said that on his recent trips to South America and southeast Asia he found tension everywhere but many things to be happy about.

He called admission of Hawaii as a state "a masterpiece of statesmanship on the part of Congress."

"This is the kind of concrete action which speaks so much more eloquently than mere words," he said.

Nearly 200 pupils took part in Friday evening's program. The majorettes joined the band in one number and David Nowicki conducted the senior band for one selection. Miss Collins played an oboe solo during the Senior band portion of the program. Other soloists included Eileen Zeigler on the clarinet and Robert Baker on the cornet.

U. S. Interests In Africa Threatened
WASHINGTON (AP)—The eager response of Communist Czechoslovakia to a request for arms from the young nation of Guinea is a tipoff to "a growing threat to our interests" in Africa, a military foreign aid official says.

Rear Adm. E. B. Grantham Jr., told the House Foreign Affairs Committee Friday the incident shows communists ever ready to strengthen its position among emerging African nations.

Grantham, regional director of military foreign aid, and State Department officials urged the committee to approve the African allotments in President Eisenhower's foreign aid program. The program calls for $3,930,000,000.

14 UNIONS TO MERGE PLANS

NEW YORK (AP)—Officials of 14 labor organizations have welcomed a proposal for a steering committee to foster "coordinated cooperation" among seafaring, waterfront and associated unions.

The union officials who met here Thursday said the proposal for unity among the unions was not a step toward a council or confederation of transport unions—air, sea and land.

James R. Hoffa, Teamsters Union president, who has been urging such a council or confederation, was present at the meeting and backed the unity proposal.

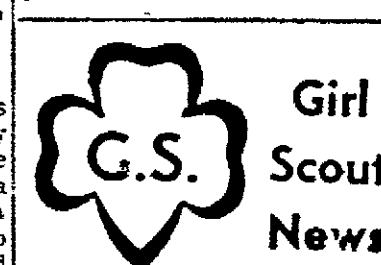

Hoffa's support caused speculation that any joint venture by the maritime unions would have the Teamsters' backing.

The proposal for a steering committee was made jointly by Paul Hall, president of the Seafarers International Union, and Joseph Curran, president of the National Maritime Union.

The International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union, headed by left-winger Harry Bridges, was the only union in the maritime field that was not invited to the meeting. Curran and Hall said that if Bridges' union wants to enter the committee, the question would be left for all the committee members to decide.

The letter was signed by representatives of U.S. Steel, Republic, Bethlehem, Jones & Laughlin, Youngstown Sheet and Tube, Inland, Armco, Great Lakes, Colorado Fuel and Iron, Wheeling, Kaiser and Allegheny Ludlum.

UNION REJECTS WAGE FREEZE

PITTSBURGH (AP)—A proposal by the basic steel industry to freeze steelworkers' wages and benefits for a year has been met with an emphatic "no" from the United Steelworkers.

David J. McDonald, president of the USW, said Friday the proposal was a "publicity stunt meant to confuse our members and the American public."

Twelve steel companies suggested in a letter to McDonald that the existing contracts be extended for one year in order to combat inflation, unemployment and foreign competition.

The letter was signed by representatives of U.S. Steel, Republic, Bethlehem, Jones & Laughlin, Youngstown Sheet and Tube, Inland, Armco, Great Lakes, Colorado Fuel and Iron, Wheeling, Kaiser and Allegheny Ludlum.

Here's A Truth Everyone Should Consider

The Proposed Pennsylvania 3 1/2% Sales Tax On Beer and Liquor Affects Everyone Living In Adams County

Here Is HOW It Affects YOU

● Every year, the various local governments receive money in the form of license refunds. The amount received depends upon the number of retail licensees in the individual municipality. Since Repeal, the various communities in Adams County have received several MILLION DOLLARS in refunds.

● This refund money is used to defray some of the costs of local government.

● If the 3 1/2% Sales Tax on beer and liquor is passed, there is no doubt that some taverns will be forced out of business. This means that our various communities will have LESS MONEY on which to operate. It must, inevitably, result in HIGHER personal and/or property taxes on EVERYONE — whether or not he purchases beer or liquor over the bar.

● It would, therefore, also result in FEWER jobs for bartenders, waitresses and other personnel. It would mean FEWER CONTRIBUTIONS to charity, etc. AND IT WOULD AFFECT EVERYONE!

BRITISH TAX RATE IS HARD ON WORKERS

By FRANK CORMIER
WASHINGTON (AP)—The British income tax, by American standards, hits hard at the man in the street but gives a big break to the investor, the speculator and the gambler.

Even after the tax cut announced last Tuesday, the average Englishman will pay considerably more than his American cousin.

The investor or speculator, however, will retain complete freedom from taxes on profits made in the stock market or through real estate deals. And the gambler will continue to pay no tax on his winnings.

Dividend Tax Small
Moreover, most Englishmen who collect dividends on stocks will—as in the past—pay little or no tax on these.

Dividends, capital gains and gambling winnings are, of course, taxed in the United States.

Why haven't the British tapped these revenue sources?

In the case of dividends, the English take the position that a corporation — by paying income and profits taxes—in effect pays a dividend tax on behalf of its shareholders. To tax shareholders directly, they believe, would be unfair double taxation.

Many American stockholders take the same view and have agitated persistently, but without much success, for a similar concession.

As for capital gains and gambling winnings, these were not classed as taxable income under British tax law.

Still Pays More

The New British tax change, which will go into effect at mid-year, will lower the standard income tax rate to 38 1/2 per cent from 42 1/2 per cent. Here's how the standard rate system works:

While an American taxpayer claims exemptions and deductions to lower his taxable income, the Englishman claims "reliefs" from the standard rate. He gets one relief of $336 for himself and a second for the same amount if he's married. He also can claim a relief of $238 for each of his dependents and can deduct modest amounts for insurance premiums he pays.

On the first $1,008 of income, he is taxed at rates far below the standard levy.

Take the case of a married man with two children who is paid $5,600 a year. An American who claims the standard deduction will pay an income tax of about $528. An Englishman in the same situation will pay about $853 under the new rate. The cut will save him about $443.

"SEEK GOD"

When bad luck tosses you upon... the wild seas of despair... it is a comfort just to know... the Lord is waiting there... in Him you'll find a harbor warm... where you can gain new hope... with faith in God you'll gather in... new faith to climb the slope... for mortal friends are seldom found... when needed most of all... whereas the Ruler of mankind... awaits each needy call... remember this when luck is good... seek God to share your prize... don't turn your head away from Him... this act would not be wise.

slows down before returning to the highway.

4. On a steep hill, before your car gains too much momentum, it's wise to (a) use your brakes so the car won't pick up too much speed, (b) shift into a lower gear and use the motor for braking, (c) pull your parking brake on periodically.

Answers:

1. (a) Never brake on a curve, the safety council says. It can cause a skid. Good drivers cut their speed enough before entering a curve so they can accelerate very slightly as they round the curve.

2. (b) It's always smart to slow down below the posted speed limit in bad weather. Speed limits are set for normal, good-weather conditions.

3. (c) Keep a firm grip on the steering wheel and your foot off the brake and accelerator until your car slows down. Then—before—turn the wheel sharply toward the pavement.

4. (b) If you picked "a" you're a good bet to need some new brakes soon, maybe when you need to stop your car! Riding the brakes—in other words, braking constantly—on a hill is a sure way to burn them out. And parking brakes the council says, are for one purpose—parking. Use motor compression for downhill braking.

April 15 marks the 94th anniversary of the death of Abraham Lincoln. Visitors to the nation's capital will be interested in the rare items of historical significance related to that tragic event which are part of a permanent exhibit at the Medical Museum of the Armed Forces Institute of Pathology in Washington, D. C.

The handmade bullet which killed Lincoln, the probe which removed it, fragments of bone from the penetrated area and a copy of the report of the post-mortem examination signed by Dr. J. J. Woodward are some of the arresting memorabilia which serve as reminders of the 16th President's assassination.

An enlarged reproduction of the scene of Lincoln's death bed, sketched originally by Herman Faber, a medical artist who was the first person to enter the room after Lincoln's body had been removed, is prominently displayed. The original sketch—one of the

TRIO, WHO FLED ESCAPE-PROOF JAIL, CAUGHT

WILMINGTON, Del. (AP)—A trio of men who managed to get out of the "escape proof" Passaic County jail in Paterson, N.J., are back in the clink today because they couldn't help looking like suspicious characters.

They overcame a guard Friday and headed South in an auto driven by a fourth man.

The escapees, who are being held for New Jersey authorities, were identified by police here as Joseph Van Atzinger, 32; John L. Carroll, 20, and Ronald Mattade, 24. The driver, who also was detained, was named as Joseph Brandecker of Passaic.

Sgt. Martin Krasnick, one of the Wilmington officers who arrested the three today, said they were stopped because they appeared suspicious.

They tried to bluff their way through routine questioning when the Wilmington officers stopped them on the edge of town, Krasnick said, but one slipped and gave his real name in response to one question.

Van Atzinger is formerly of Paterson. Carroll is from Lodi, N. J., and Mattade from Clifton, N.J.

Van Atzinger had been brought to the Passaic County Jail recently from West Virginia where he had been serving time for hold-ups. Carroll was in for stealing and Mattade for auto larceny.

Medical Museum's greatest treasures — is also on view, along with photographs of three different interpretations of the death scene made by others within a few days after Lincoln's death.

In addition to a diorama of the stage of the Ford Theater and photographs of some of the outstanding medical men who were in attendance on Lincoln, the exhibit includes reproductions of Lincoln's life mask and castings of his hands. These were created by Avar Fairbanks, now resident sculptor at the University of Utah, for the Medical Museum in 1942 from original molds cast by Leonard Volk in 1860.

The most recent addition to the exhibit was made on the 150th anniversary of Lincoln's birth. It is the medical diploma of Dr. Robert King Stone, the president's personal physician.

It is most appropriate that the Medical Museum should make available a permanent exhibit of Lincoln's assassination. When Abraham Lincoln was shot in the Ford Theater on April 14, 1865, he was attended by Army doctors, including General Joseph K. Barnes, surgeon general of the United States Army. One of the two Army doctors who performed a post-mortem, at the request of Lincoln's personal physician, was Dr. Joseph Janvier Woodward, then on the staff of the Medical Museum.

The museum took over the Ford Theater as its permanent quarters on December 8, 1866. The theater had closed to the public from the time of Lincoln's assassination. The museum remained at this location for twenty years. Now located on Independence Avenue at 9th Street, S.W., the museum is open every day of the year. Leaflets of the Lincoln exhibit are available to all visitors.

REALISTIC MOVIE

MICHIGAN CITY, Ind. (AP)—A movie theater audience thought they could almost smell the smoke while watching a scene in which Indians were burning a white man at the stake. They could, but the smoke turned out to be drifting in from a nearby burning building, and the audience had to leave the theater.

After the original 13 colonies, the first states to be admitted to the union were Vermont, Kentucky, Tennessee and Ohio.

SAYS SOVIET ILLS BIGGEST

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Gov. Robert B. Meyner of New Jersey today said Soviet Russia's leaders have bigger headaches than the free world has.

In a speech prepared for delivery to the American Academy of Political Sciences, Meyner said the record of the past shows communism is not a doctrine that is likely to capture human imaginations and sweep the world.

"Look at Tibet, at Hungary, at Poland, at the failure of communism in South America, India and even in Africa," Meyner said.

"Ours Not So Bad"
"Yes we in America and in the other countries of the free world have our headaches," he said, "but they are not as bad as the migraines that afflict Communist leaders everywhere."

The governor said that on his recent trips to South America and southeast Asia he found tension everywhere but many things to be happy about.

He called admission of Hawaii as a state "a masterpiece of statesmanship on the part of Congress."

"This is the kind of concrete action which speaks so much more eloquently than mere words," he said.

U. S. Interests In Africa Threatened

WASHINGTON (AP)—The eager response of Communist Czechoslovakia to a request for arms from the young nation of Guinea is a tipoff to "a growing threat to our interests" in Africa, a military foreign aid official says.

Rear Adm. E. B. Grantham Jr., told the House Foreign Affairs Committee Friday the incident shows communism ever ready to strengthen its position among emerging African nations.

Grantham, regional director of military foreign aid, and State Department officials urged the committee to approve the African allotments in President Eisenhower's foreign aid program. The program calls for $3,930,000,000.

BOSTON (AP)—A widow and her daughter were held at separate hospitals today after a priest and police discovered them in a cluttered, foodless apartment.

The mother had threatened suicide. Her emaciated 33-year-old daughter had been held prisoner in her own home, police said, for 16 years.

Police Lt. Chester A. Henchey said the situation was discovered by the Rev. Kenneth Murphy, a Catholic priest, who operates Rescue Inc., a nonsectarian service for potential suicides.

Father Murphy accompanied by police went to the home of Catherine Stearns, 59, Friday night after neighbors said she had threatened suicide. After taking Mrs. Stearns in hand, police searched for half an hour before they found her daughter, Mary, 33, under a pile of debris and blankets.

Henchey said the daughter was in such a wild state she had to be tied. She was calmed and taken to City Hospital where doctors began the process of building her up. The mother was taken to State Hospital.

A doctor said the daughter's thighs were "no thicker than a man's wrist." She weighed less than 60 pounds.

Pennsylvania Cannot Afford These Increased Taxes!
Adams County Cannot Afford These Increased Taxes!

Assemblyman Francis Worley Senator Douglas Elliott

This Message Sponsored By The
ADAMS COUNTY TAVERN ASSN.

● Every year, the various local governments receive money in the form of license refunds. The amount received depends upon the number of retail licensees in the individual municipality. Since Repeal, the various communities in Adams County have received several MILLION DOLLARS in refunds.

● This refund money is used to defray some of the costs of local government.

● If the 3 1/2% Sales Tax on beer and liquor is passed, there is no doubt that some taverns will be forced out of business. This means that our various communities will have LESS MONEY on which to operate. It must, inevitably, result in HIGHER personal and/or property taxes on EVERYONE — whether or not he purchases beer or liquor over the bar.

● It would, therefore, also result in FEWER jobs for bartenders, waitresses and other personnel. It would mean FEWER CONTRIBUTIONS to charity, etc. AND IT WOULD AFFECT EVERYONE!

WEE RAILROAD STILL BUSY, MAKING MONEY

By RAY SHAW

CORYDON, Ind. (AP)—A railroad president nodded toward his line's single locomotive:

"We're unusual for this business. We don't owe anybody, and our stockholders, customers and employees are happy."

The Louisville, New Albany and Corydon Railroad is small—only eight miles long—but it's making money while most railroads are having troubles.

The railroad has assets of a quarter million dollars.

"We work hard at making money," said Bill Buchanan, president and general manager of the railroad. "The only way to run a railroad is for profit."

Leased Land

The railroad hauls freight for this Southern Indiana town of 3,000. Some of the town's two dozen small industries located here because the railroad sold or leased its land at low prices for plant sites.

The L. N. A., and C's tracks wind north to Corydon Junction, where it transfers outgoing goods to Southern Railway or Southern switches off cars to be brought to Corydon.

Most of the freight is furniture built in Corydon, grain for surrounding broiler farms, gasoline or building material.

The line's operation is simple, and hasn't changed greatly since it was founded 75 years ago.

Out To Lunch

"We're probably the only railroad in the country that shuts down for lunch and weekends," Buchanan grinned.

The railroad's only rolling stock is a 6-year-old diesel locomotive named the "Betty Sue" and an ancient track car used by section hands. All box cars are leased from larger railroads.

A 30-year-old steam engine was scrapped when the diesel was bought.

"We were the first railroad in the country to be completely dieselized," Buchanan bragged.

Only 14 employees are needed to run the railroad and a truck line it owns.

Business Increase

Last year the railroad handled 1,832 cars, an increase of 517 over 1956. The truck line handled an additional 3,460 tons of freight.

The town has one other truck line but is not served directly by a major railroad.

Buchanan, whose business suit is a suede jacket and worn flannel trousers, likes to apply the railroad industry's problems to his own operation.

"Most railroads are in trouble because they priced themselves out of business. When they lost revenue to trucks, they raised rates to make up for the lost revenue. Then they lost more business."

"We give good rates and service," he said.

"Railroad and truck lines should get together and quit fighting over rates," Buchanan said. "There's plenty of business for both."

Mrs. Guyon E. Buehler, chairman of the Public Affairs committee, was in charge of the meeting and members of her committee served at the coffee hour which initiated the discussions.

Miss Martha Stalinski poured and she was assisted by Mrs. James H. Barnes, Miss Claire Brandon and Miss Mildred Walter, club secretary. The national YWCA assisted with the formation of the Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs and no longer carries a program for this type of work. Mrs. Lee Hartman, president of the local club, who led some of the discussion on Thursday evening, said every county in the state excepting Adams and Perry has a Federated Business and Professional Women's Club, and that the Gettysburg club would vote at the next business meeting on the matter of joining. Membership would not alienate local YWCA affiliations, she said.

Miss Faye Sneed, Gettysburg R. 5, was the guest of honor at a surprise bridal shower Friday evening at the home of Mrs. Barry Breighner, 205 N. Stratton St. Gifts were arranged under an umbrella fashioned from forsythia and boxwood. The refreshment table was decorated with fresh flowers and dolls dressed as a bride and attendants.

World Briefs

MOSCOW (AP)—Some 115 members of Russia's Bolshoi Ballet left in two Soviet planes today en route to New York for a dancing engagement.

After sightseeing in London they will leave for New York in two British airliners. Their American tour starts at the Metropolitan Opera House in New York April 16.

HAVANA (AP)—Premier Fidel Castro attacked the United States today for "giving shelter" to Cubans who fled abroad after the downfall of the Fulgencio Batista dictatorship last January.

He told electrical plant workers it was "criminal and ignoble" for the United States to allow Cuban war criminals to use its soil as a base for anti-revolution campaigns. This is the act of a "bad neighbor," he said.

SOESTERBERG AIR BASE, Netherlands (AP)—Prince Bernhard left today from this military airbase for a two-week visit to the United States.

Bernhard will attend the World Flight Congress at Las Vegas, the government information service announced. He will also address the World Conference on Religion and Freedom at Dallas.

NEW DELHI, India (AP)—Prime Minister Nehru today called the shooting down of an Indian air force bomber by a Pakistani jet fighter "most serious and distressing."

The Pakistan air force admitted shooting down the Indian twin-engine Canberra jet Friday. The two crewmen survived, but suffered broken legs.

Pakistan said the bomber was brought down about 40 miles south of Pakistan's army headquarters at Rawalpindi after failing to obey an order to land.

The Indian defense ministry said the plane was on a routine flight.

PANAMA (AP)—The Roman Catholic Church has been asked to mediate a settlement in Panama's civil strife which already has caused four deaths.

The heads of 10 civic and professional organizations asked Archbishop Francisco Beckman Friday to try for an end of hostilities between National Guard troops and 10 rebels holding out in northwest mountains for the past week.

The rebels apparently want to start a guerrilla movement on the Cuban pattern.

Masonic Order Will Revive Ascension Rite: Gettysburg Commandery No. 79, Knights Templar, this year will revive the annual Ascension Festival service, the committee in charge announced today.

The affair, for which hundreds come here, is scheduled for Sunday, May 15, at the Gettysburg National Cemetery.

Mrs. Sheely Is Head Of New Auxiliary Unit: Mrs. Raymond F. Sheely was elected president of the Women's Auxiliary to the Adams County Medical society at a meeting Tuesday afternoon at the Gettysburg country club establishing the new group here.

Other officers named Tuesday included Mrs. Roy W. Gifford, president-elect; Mrs. L. L. Potter, Littlestown, secretary, and Mrs. Leon Roos. Since the vice president automatically moves up to the presidency at the end of a term the organization uses the vice president, it was explained.

Library Gets Jail At $9,000: The old Adams county jail property on East High street was sold at public sale Wednesday afternoon to the Adams County Free Library for $9,000, the same price the library had offered for the property previously.

The property has a frontage of 178.5 feet on East High street and a depth of 180 feet and includes the old jail residence, cell blocks and other brick buildings.

Commanderies Conduct Joint Installation: Approximately 100 Knights Templar and their ladies from Gettysburg, Hanover, York and Littlestown attended a joint public installation of the officers of Gettysburg Commandery No. 79 and Bethel Commandery No. 98, Hanover, in the Masonic temple, Hanover, on Tuesday evening.

Officers of the Gettysburg Commandery installed were: Wilbur L. Plank, eminent commander; Richard H. Higinbotham, generalissimo; Miles S. Kleinfelter, captain general; Ray J. Kitzmiller, treasurer; William R. Swisher, senior warden; George N. Coshun, junior warden; Blaine G. Walter, standard bearer, and Paul A. LeGore, sword bearer. Charles W. Myers was continued as recorder which office he has held since 1932. Other Gettysburg officers who were reappointed to offices which they held last year were: The Rev. Harry R. Lee, prelate; T. J. Winebrenner, assistant prelate; John D. Settle, warden, and John L. Bower, sentinel. George T. Raffensperger is the retiring commander.

Harman Heads Moose Lodge As Governor: Clifford Harman was elected governor of the Gettysburg lodge of the Moose at the annual election of officers Thursday evening at the Moose home, York street. He succeeds Daniel Miller.

Other officers elected at Thursday's meeting include Stephen C. Smith, junior governor; C. Lester Oyler, prelate; Charles L. Lauver, secretary for three years; Willis Conover, treasurer; Robert E. Fox, trustee.

Today's Talk

LIFE IS WORTH LIVING
One of my favorite quotations from an author is that one by William James, who said: "Be not afraid of life. Believe that life is worth living, and your belief will help create the fact."
Here is life. It belongs to each one of us. It is a wonderful gift. We must first decide to do something with it. Then it keeps growing more fascinating, more individual, more worth the living, and more worth getting others to appreciate its significance. Life is what we make it. God gave this life of ours and He is not going to let us down in his handling.

Hasn't it been very revealing to note the effect another person's enthusiasm, faith, courage, and outlook have upon us? We are influenced by others far more than we think. Even our own influence, in like manner has its influence on others, often unknown by us.

I often think of the great wealth of mind and heart is created by a love for books and reading, and for all forms of art. Just to have cultivated both these "loves" is worth the living that has been bequeathed to us. What a lonely life anyone lives who has never opened the door of his mind to let in the beauty and revelations created by this love of books and art.

How I love the springtime. Everything then awakes from its long sleep—the flowers, the trees, the green grass. How glorious are the songs of the many birds who give their concerts at early morn and during the twilight of the day. How grateful are these feathered friends for all the care given them during the cold days of winter. I believe God's love has a tiny corner in the heart of every bird!

Just Folks

DOWN AND OUT
"Down and out" is a phrase we use too often in a heedless, careless way. Because one battle a man may lose, "He is down and out," the scoffers say. But many have risen to win renown. Who have felt the sting of Fate's knotted knot. It doesn't follow because he's down, That a man has also been counted out.

There's always a chance to rise again. If a man has faith in himself, and tries; He can win the cheers of his fellow men. And some time capture the golden prize. Today's defeat isn't worth a frown; Keep your eyes ahead and your courage stout; It doesn't follow because you're down, That you have also been counted out.

"Down and out!" Man is never that. If he has the courage to start again. If Fate has humbled and knocked him flat. He still can smile on his fellow men. If he has the courage to hide his frown, Remember this as you go about, Although today he is surely down, It's a mortal cinch that he isn't out.

A Bit Of History About Bits Of Cobean Genealogy

By B. F. M. MacPHERSON

According to a descendant of the pioneer Cobean family they (the Cobean) were of French Huguenot (Alsatian refugees) ancestry. They fled from the old country, as did so many others, to escape religious persecution.

The Cobean first came to America with one of the first expeditions of Jean Ribaut in 1632 or 1634, landing at Fort Royal, in what is now South Carolina. Some historians are of the opinion that this group of French Huguenots were the first Protestants to land upon American soil. These people built a fort at Fort Royal but the colony was not to be a permanent one. It gradually disintegrated and many of the people drifted south to what is now Florida. This aroused the suspicions of the Spaniards, who claimed sole ownership of the whole of that region. Jean Ribaut, their leader, went back to France for more colonists but, on his arrival there found France at war with the Roman Catholics. It was impossible to return to his colony in Florida for quite some time. When he did return it was to find his fort destroyed and the colonists scattered. Soon after the departure of Ribaut the settlement was attacked by the Spaniards and still later the remnants were set upon by the Indians. Of this attack only a few survived. In some way or other some of the Cobean managed to escape and survive.

Arrived In Adams
Almost two hundred years later members of the Cobean family appeared in what is now Adams County, Pennsylvania. In the old records the name is spelled Cobine, Cobean and Kobine. The Rev. A. Stapleton in his "memoirs of the Huguenots" lists the name and states that it was originally spelled "Cobean" but was later changed to "Cobin."

Samuel Cobean, of Cumberland Township, York (now Adams) County, Pennsylvania, was a second lieutenant in the First (Captain Thomas Latta's) Company, Fifth Battalion, York County Militia, according to a return of that company on April 5, 1778. Apparently he remained a member of this company and in 1780, when this particular group became the first company of the Second Battalion of the York County Militia, Samuel Cobean was promoted to captain.

Just when the Cobean settled on March Creek is not known, insofar as the exact year is concerned. The name of Captain Samuel A. Cobean appeared on the tax lists of York (now Adams) County in 1767. He (Captain Samuel) settled along Marsh Creek, in Cumberland Township, not too far south of the old stone bridge, that once spanned the stream at the old Black Horse (or McClellan) Tavern. He built a grist mill and a saw mill and members of his family and some of their descendants lived there for a number of years.

In Black's Graveyard
It is very possible that Captain Samuel Alexander Cobean, soldier of the Revolution, is buried in Black's Graveyard (Upper Marsh Creek Presbyterian) along with his wife and other members of the family in unmarked graves. As stated before there is quite a large lot, which is obviously the family burial plot — but only two stones remain in it at this late date.

Captain Samuel Alexander Cobean was the father of Alexander Cobean, the first president of the Gettysburg National Bank. The late Edward McPherson had this to say of Mr. Cobean: "Alexander Cobean was born in 1767, in Franklin Township, York (now Adams) County, Pennsylvania. He was a man of superior intelligence, agreeable manners, and great force of character. He was for many years one of the most active citizens of Marsh Creek, owned the Plank (lately Bream) Mill, and moved to Gettysburg about 1796. He was the candidate for Congress of the Federal Party in 1814, was the first president of the Bank of Gettysburg, was captain of a company who marched to Baltimore in 1814, and became a colonel in the company of troops in the Battle of North Point, and died April 2, 1823, aged 57 years. The Hon. Thaddeus Stevens, who came to Gettysburg, Pennsylvania, in the fall of 1816, told me (Edward McPherson) that he regarded Colonel Cobean the strongest man then in the community."

Promoted Gettysburg
"He was very active in having Gettysburg selected as the county seat of the new County of Adams. He was living at Marsh Creek in 1793, and was there engaged in the operation of a mill. He had been elected to the Legislature in 1799, and was sent to Philadelphia as a special agent to represent the parties interested in having Gettysburg made the county seat. On February 2, 1799, he appeared before the Legislature in Philadelphia as a representative of the inhabitants and vicinity. He was elected a member of the Council of Gettysburg in 1808. He was very active in establishing the Bank of Gettysburg and was elected a member of the first Board of Directors May 26, 1814. He was elected the first president of the Board of Directors in 1814 and served until 1820, when he resigned, and John McConaughy, Esq., was elected president."

Burial Place Unknown
Note:—The eldest daughter of Colonel Alexander Cobean, born to his first marriage. The burial place of Jane Cobean is not known.

1. Wednesday, November 8, 1815
"Died, Monday, November 6, 1815, Miss Jane Cobean, eldest daughter of Alexander Cobean, Esq., of this borough (Gettysburg, Pennsylvania)."

2. Wednesday, May 26, 1819
"Married, Thursday evening, May 20, 1819, by the Rev. David McConaughy, Colonel Alexander Cobean to Mrs. Priscilla Harper, both of this Borough."

3. Wednesday, April 9, 1823
"Died, at eleven o'clock, Wednesday night, April 2, 1823, Colonel Alexander Cobean, of this place (Gettysburg, Pennsylvania), in the 57th year of his age, after a severe illness of eight days. Few men have been more actively engaged in business than the deceased during his whole life. Most generally at the head of every object of public improvement, he too often sacrificed his private interest to his zeal for the public prosperity. The whole tenor of his private life has been that of frankness, honor and generosity, endearing him to all who knew him."

Soldier of 1812-14
Note:—Colonel Alexander, soldier of the War of 1812-1814, the Son of Captain Samuel Alexander Cobean, who, in turn, served his country in the war of the American Revolution.

4. Tuesday, January 24, 1832
"Died, Saturday morning, January 21, 1832, after a short illness, at Mount Alto Furnace, Franklin County, Pennsylvania, Mr. Alexander Cobean, youngest son of Colonel Alexander Cobean, formerly of this town (Gettysburg, Pennsylvania), in the 30th year of his age."

Died At Antietam
5. Monday, January 5, 1835 — "Died, at the Antietam Iron Works, Maryland, Thursday morning, January 2, 1835, Mr. Samuel A. Cobean, son of Colonel Alexander Cobean, deceased, formerly of this town (Gettysburg, Pennsylvania), aged about 35 years."

Note:—A son of Colonel Alexander Cobean, who was a son of Captain Samuel Alexander Cobean, soldier of the American Revolution, and pioneer settler in the Manor of the Masque. The burial place of Samuel A. Cobean is not known.

This concludes, for the "time being" at least, the notes on the Cobean family. The list of marked graves in Black's Graveyard (Upper Marsh Creek Presbyterian) is continued at this time, as follows:—

SAFE DRIVING TIP

Regulate your driving speed according to road and weather conditions. Extra caution must be used when icy spots prevail.

Often, after a winter storm has passed or even in early spring, icy spots remain in sheltered places. The Chicago Motor Club warns that motorists should be prepared to encounter slippery sections of road under viaducts, on bridges, and in other shaded spots.

If you should skid on ice, don't slam on the brakes. Turn your front wheels in the direction your rear wheels are skidding. This will tend to keep the rear end of the car from whipping around as you ease the brakes on and off to stop.

STUDY BAR TO DEVELOPMENT

WASHINGTON (AP)—The National Park Service agreed Thursday to study the possibility of preserving the Antietam battlefield at Sharpsburg, Md., without buying all of it.

Director Conrad L. Wirth of the Park Service told the House Interior Committee that his agency would study such a suggestion. The suggestion was made by Rep. Quentin Burdick (D-ND) that present owners, mostly farmers, be paid a fee to agree to a permanent restricted covenant against developing their property.

Burdick made the suggestion after Rep. James Haley (D-Fla.) criticized the park service's Mission 66 program. The program is a 10-year effort designed to bring the national park facilities in line with needs by 1966.

Haley questioned whether it was proper for Wirth to include the Antietam purchase and the proposed development of the Chesapeake and Ohio Canal Park in a revised $46 million dollar cost estimate for Mission 66.

Neither project has been authorized by Congress, Haley said, and the purchase of additional donated land with anything but Federal, private funds is barred by law.

Wirth replied that he was only trying to give Congress a realistic appraisal of the program's needs and cost.

Rep. John R. Foley (D-Md.) has offered a bill to allow the Park Service to use public money to expand the Antietam battlefield park. Members of the committee plan to visit the battlefield today.

Wirth said that in another few years, unless protected, part of the battlefield site will be subdivided and thus lost for park purposes.

The name of the state of Arizona comes from the Spanish name of "Arida Zona," meaning "dry area."

Let's Look At The Record

SELF RIGHTEOUS NEHRU
Dalai Lama Is Bad News In New Delhi
Tibetan Refugee To Have New Liberties

By JIM DAN HILL, Ph.D.
President, Wisconsin State College, Superior

THE REVOLT IN TIBET
against Communism has spotlighted two men. The Dalai Lama is the 23-year-old god-king of obscure Tibet. Jawaharlal Nehru is the leader of India's teeming millions.

Until a few days ago the former was merely an anachronistic oddity for embellishing travelogue films and books about far-away places.

But Nehru is an old and conspicuous performer on the international stage. He wears the mantle of the late Mahatma Gandhi whom scores of millions of Asiatics consider a Christ-like messiah. It was this, with England's withdrawal, that made Nehru prime minister of India. So great is his prestige that in his country he had no political or philosophical rival.

FOR THE PAST TEN YEARS
Nehru has used his unique position to posture as the self-righteous apostle of neutralism.

Actually, Nehru has been of far more aid and comfort to the Red Chinese and the masters of the Kremlin than he has ever been to the West.

Though England extended the freedom to India as a nation that has made Nehru a prime minister and though America has extended the wheat and other aids that on at least one occasion saved his people from famine, he has had few kind words for the western alliance against communism.

Indeed, at awkward moments for the West he has more than once indulged in student sophistries pandering to the natural suspicion of backward peoples for imperialism which he always associates with the West but has failed to observe in China and Russia.

Nehru's consistent refusal to take a stand against Russia's ruthless treatment of Hungary's brief bid for freedom was so flagrant that it became an apology for communism and an encouragement to new aggressions.

THE BLOOD OF FOUL Red aggression now stains the still of Nehru's own back door, Tibet. His own people are outraged.

Tibet's Dalai Lama is a political and religious refugee in India. American headlines, TV and radio commentators leave the impression that Nehru is wiggling down from his neutrality wall to take a position alongside the western allies.

Do not bet on it. Nehru, like Gandhi before him and whose philosophy he exemplifies, is a past master at saint-like "passive action" accompanied by most unsavory abusive propaganda against any people or peoples who speak the English language.

Like many other Indian intellectuals, he suffers from a monumental inferiority complex for his people if not for himself. Gandhi fashioned it into a successful, philosophical technique for driving England out of India.

It will require far more than a bloody, Communist suppression of a revolt by the yak herders worshippers of the Dalai Lama to drive England out of India.

cause Nehru to abandon this tested technique for fostering and fighting Indian nationalism.

THE MOST THE WEST can hope for from Nehru is that hereafter he may be as equally vehement against Russia and China as in the past he has been of western capitalism, which he has never differentiated from colonialism.

In short, Tibet's sad affairs could be making a true neutral of Nehru, but even this is subject to question.

Nehru's long news conference of last Sunday, as the Dalai Lama was seeking asylum in India, was just about what any student of the Gandhi-Nehru record would expect.

It was so full of sweet nebulous phrases among vehement criticisms that making sense of it is like trying to nail a mince pie to the kitchen wall.

WHEN REMINDED his insistence on unflinching friendship for Red China and his "strong feeling about developments in Tibet" were inconsistent, he verbally ducked with the pious thought that he might have to "balance and adjust."

Yes, according to Nehru, the Dalai Lama was welcome in India. He could not settle near the Tibet border. No, he would not be sent to the far south. Yes, he could exercise spiritual leadership over his people. No, he would not be allowed any political leadership — as if a god-like ruler of a primitive people could divorce these two last activities.

ON WHETHER the Dalai Lama would be allowed to tell to the world the full story of his people's oppression by the Reds, Nehru was highly noncommittal.

Somewhat lost in the shuffle is the historical fact that since the advent of the partisan movement inspired by the Nagas of Assam, Nehru has been suppressing a little, quasi-religious, tribal revolt within his own highly diversified empire of Indian states.

Thus should Nehru allow Tibet's Dalai Lama any degree of freedom in behalf of his people, the Indian prime minister will be inviting blasts of counter propaganda from Peiping and covert aid from China to his own dissident groups.

We may thus count on Nehru once again seeking refuge in a policy of "passive action" with just enough friendship for the West to keep India on the alms end of America's foreign policy.

Meanwhile, anything the youthful Dalai Lama tries to tell the world about his experience with communism's aggressions against native freedoms in Tibet will be carefully edited by philosopher Nehru.

CEREMONIES IN BEIRUT TO MARK CHANGE FOR MISSIONS

By TOM HENSHAW
AP Religion Writer

The oldest existing American Protestant missionary effort takes a big step toward folding its tent next week.

Ceremonies in Beirut, Lebanon, on Wednesday will mark the official beginning of a merger of Protestant missions in Syria and Lebanon into the independent National Evangelical Synod of Syria and Lebanon.

It is part of a long-range Protestant program to hand over control of foreign missions to the native churches and disassociate Protestant Christianity from hated Western colonialism.

Mostly Presbyterian
American Protestant missionaries began work in Syria and Lebanon in 1823, under the supervision of the American Board of Commissioners for Foreign Missions, which then included both Congregationalists and Presbyterians.

The board now is an agency of the Congregational Christian Churches but most of the missionary work in Syria and Lebanon has been carried on by the Presbyterians.

When the merger finally is accomplished the National Evangelical Synod will inherit 57 missionaries as "fraternal workers" and about a million dollars worth of mission property.

Although the number of Arab Protestants is small — there are less than 250,000 in the whole Middle East — the Protestant influence has been considerable.

Change In Support
Among the properties slated to pass out of mission control is the Beirut College for Women, the first such institution established in the Turkish Ottoman Empire.

The mission properties also include Aleppo College for Men in Syria, the Near East School of Theology in Beirut, seven secondary schools, two hospitals and a tuberculosis sanatorium.

The Syrian and Lebanese mission projects receive about $400,000 a year from American churches.

Financial support will not be cut off completely after the merger but, instead of a fixed sum, the American churches will contribute funds only as they are needed.

In a recent study conducted by Eugene Gilbert & Co., noted teen-age research authorities, teen-agers were asked "Did you read a newspaper yesterday?" Eight out of every ten replied that they had.

During 1957, newspapers in the United States invested $129,991,529 to improve their plants and equipment — the better to serve both readers and advertisers.

Warriors Host Bubblers Monday At 3:30; Rain Friday Stops All Action

Rain washed out the complete scholastic athletic program scheduled for Adams County teams Friday.

The Gettysburg-Delone High baseball game was rescheduled for here Tuesday afternoon at 3:30.

As the result of Friday's postponement the Warriors will now open their season here Monday at 3:30 against Bolling Springs.

Coach Ben Jones has announced that Wayne "Doc" Fissel will hurl against the Bubblers while Captain Gary Maitland will oppose Delone the following day. Plans for opening day ceremonies have been abandoned.

Track Meet Thursday
Gettysburg's track meet with Chambersburg was also postponed and will be held next Thursday at Chambersburg.

Big Spring and Bermudian will make up their postponed ball game at York Springs on Monday.

No date has been set for the Dover-New Oxford game at New Oxford. The Biglerville-Suburban game at York will be played next Thursday.

FREEZING COLD DIDN'T BOTHER OWNER VEECK

DETROIT (AP) — The near-freezing cold didn't bother Bill Veeck.

The thrill of owning a major league club again was enough to warm the buoyant man who grew up in baseball.

Veeck rejected all overtures by well-wishers who wanted to loan him a topcoat in Briggs Stadium's 37-degree weather Friday. It was his active re-entry into baseball's official family as majority stockholder of the Chicago White Sox.

"No, I'm not cold," said Veeck, the only person of 38,332 in the stands without some protection against the numbing chill. "I'm nervous. I'm always nervous at a game."

Wore Summer Suit
Veeck, attired in a blue summer suit and his customary open-throated sportshirt, sat through 4 hours and 25 minutes of baseball.

His Sox finally won a 14-inning marathon 9-7 over the Detroit Tigers.

In his box seat behind the Chicago dugout, Veeck clapped his hands, bantered with fans around him, cheered the Sox.

Fox doubled in the first inning, Jim Landis followed with a smash that looked like a hit. Frank Bolling, Detroit's second baseman, snared it and converted it into a double play.

"That was a run," Veeck screamed. "Boom, boom. Tough way to get out of an inning."

The chatter carried on through the 14 innings. Veeck didn't shiver once. He was glad to be back in baseball.

INJURIES HURT HERSHEY BEARS

HERSHEY, Pa. (AP) — The Hershey Bears, with two starters ailing, meet Cleveland tonight in the sixth game of their semifinal series for the American Hockey League's Calder Cup.

Winger Bob Solinger and center Willie Marshall were doubtful starters for the Bears, who hold a 3-2 edge in the best-of-seven series.

Solinger has been under treatment for a possible gall bladder ailment and Marshall is suffering from a virus infection.

"It's strictly up to the club now if they want to win this series badly enough," said Hershey Coach Frank Mothers. "We've got the home ice advantage, but in the last month of the season we couldn't come up with a good game at home. We're long overdue for a big one."

Cleveland, the league's highest scoring entry, has won five of nine games at Hershey during regular play.

If Cleveland wins, the seventh and deciding game will be played Sunday at Cleveland.

Ashburn, Mays Hitless In Opener

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The new race for the National League batting title didn't pick up where last year's left off.

Last September, Philadelphia's Richie Ashburn won the crown with a 3-for-4 performance on the final day while San Francisco's Willie Mays, the runner-up, just missed with a 3-for-3 bid.

In last night's opening games, Ashburn was hitless in three at-bats as the Phillies defeated Cincinnati 2-1. Mays was 0-for-4 as the Giants won 6-5 at St. Louis.

Ashburn won last year's title with a .350 average. Mays finished with .347.

INDIANS WIN BUT SCORE IS DISAPPOINTING

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

You can excuse Manager Joe Gordon if he wasn't overly enthusiastic after his Cleveland Indians won their American League opener at Kansas City Friday.

The score, 6-4, was pleasant enough, but The Score was a wild worry. The Score in question is Herb Score, the young pitcher who broke in so sensationally, but who hasn't had anything except trouble since he took a line drive in the eye two years ago.

What hopes the Indians have of going any place but down from last year's fourth-place finish in the pennant race are based on a comeback by the 25-year-old lefty.

Score is Disappointing
Friday, after a slow pace in spring training, Score was waved in from the bull pen when the A's got to starter Gary Bell for their third run in the ninth. With Score pitching, the A's scored again without swinging a bat. He walked the first man he faced on four pitches, wild pitched a run home and walked the second batter. He was 2-0 against the third man before Dick Brokowski replaced him and put it away.

A topcoat crowd of 22,630 showed up at Kansas City.

With 38,332 sitting in at Detroit, the Chicago White Sox got past the Tigers 9-7 in 14 innings on Nellie Fox's first home run since 1957. The Boston at New York game was rained out. Baltimore and Washington weren't scheduled.

Bell, who was backed by an 11-hit attack against lefty Bob Grim and relievers Ray Herbert and Russ Meyer, George Strickland, out of baseball for a year, had three hits and drove in two runs for the Indians.

Fox tore into Detroit pitching for five hits in seven at-bats. The two-run, two-out homer that ended the four-hour, 25-minute struggle was his first in 671 trips since Sept. 19, 1957.

Campey To Hand Out First Ball
LOS ANGELES (AP) — A brief but dramatic ceremony spotlighting courageous Roy Campanella will signal the opening of Los Angeles' second year as a major league baseball city.

It will be the Dodgers against the St. Louis Cardinals for the opening game Tuesday night in Memorial Coliseum.

Plans outlined today called for a 30-piece band to play the National Anthem and a 30-man color guard from the Camp Pendleton Marine Base to officiate at the flag raising.

Then Campanella, the Dodgers' famous catcher now semiparalyzed, will be wheeled into view. He will hand a ball to the Dodger pitcher and the game will be on.

Campanella's career ended after a near-fatal auto accident the winter before last.

LAKERS TO GET NEW MENTOR
MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Jim Pollard and Vern Mikkelsen put themselves in the running Friday for the Minneapolis Laker coaching job vacated by the shift to Minnesota of Johnny Kundla.

"I'm definitely interested," said Pollard, the onetime Laker great, who later put in three seasons as coach of LaSalle in Philadelphia.

Mikkelsen said he was willing to discuss the job with Laker President Bob Short and club directors if they show interest in him.

Short has said frequently that he definitely is interested in Mikkelsen, "and several others." These would include Pollard, of course.

But the Laker president appeared to be in no hurry to make a final decision. "I really haven't thought it through completely," he said, "although of course I've given it some consideration."

IRISH MENTOR EYES SQUAD IN SPRING DRILLS

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN
Associated Press Sports Writer

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP) — Notre Dame's new head football coach, Joe Kuharich, is looking over the players he's got in spring drills and wondering about the players he hopes to get as freshmen when school starts next fall.

"We will give out only about 28 scholarships at most," Kuharich said in an interview. "I think that will be enough. It means, however, that the 28 kids who get them must be exceptional academically as well as athletically."

Eye 100 Prospects
"My assistant coaches have looked at films of at least 100 high school prospects in the last several months. When an alumni tells us there is a good prospect at such and such a high school, we write the coach about him and ask for movies of games he played. If we like what we see, and academically he is sound, we mark him down as a probability."

Kuharich greeted some 120 hopefuls, largest turnout since the war. Although the enthusiasm is there, Kuharich may have to dig to find enough talent to field two teams of near equal ability, only 13 lettermen from last year are back, and that's the smallest group of returnees in 15 years.

Has 50 Freshmen
There are 50 freshmen who will be sophomores in the fall and they are considered at this time to be only so-so. There are no outstanding prospects among the rookies.

"My main problem is finding two tackles and a fullback," said Kuharich. "In about a week we are going to do some special work with our quarterbacks, who include lettermen George Izo and Don White. Eddie LeBaron (Kuharich's quarterback when he coached the Washington Redskins) is coming in for a few days to work with them."

New Oxford High's golfers were nipped by York 8-7 in a battle for first place in the Western Division of the Central Penn Golf League which was staged in a steady rain Friday afternoon on the course at Abbottstown.

The setback snapped a winning streak of 15 division victories for Coach Ed Moul's Colonials who swept through the regular season last year unbeaten to win the division championship.

Bob Dohm, York, turned in the low score for the day, a 79.

Summaries:
Phil Bankert, NO, halved Robert Dohm (124-124).

Kenneth Laughman, NO, halved Terry Wueschinski (114-112).

Ronald Roland, NO, defeated Ken Jacobs 5 and 4 (3-0).

Harold Rudisill, Y, defeated Dick Diehl, 5 and 4 (2-2).

William Schmidt, Y, defeated Jerry Beamer, 4 and 3 (2-1).

TIGERS CLAW MOUNTAINEERS

The Mt. St. Mary's College baseball team suffered a 12-6 clobbering at the hands of Hampden-Sydney on the latter's field Friday afternoon for its second loss in as many stars.

The game was the first of a twin bill for the home Tigers who topped Western Maryland 5-2 in the second game.

John Forker of the Mount hit Leon Hawker's first pitch for a homerun over the left field fence but thereafter the Mountaineers were limited to five hits and did not score again until the final inning.

"Dinky" Sheppard was the big gun at bat for Hampden-Sydney and pounded in eight runs on a homerun, double and single.

Today the Mount is scheduled to meet West Virginia at Morgantown.

Score by innings:
Mt. St. Mary's — 1000001 — 2
Hampden-Sydney — 364210X — 16
Batteries: Mt. St. Mary's — Joy, Gilbert (4), Hubner (5), Russo (7) and Segrell; Hampden-Sydney — Hawker and McLean.

In 1880, the first roll film for cameras was patented by George Eastman. Today, more people are taking more pictures than ever before. And more photography advertisers are investing more advertising dollars in newspapers than ever before.

Bullet-Temple Game Off; Play 4 Away Next Week; Hulton Evaluates Squad

Another scheduled baseball game for Gettysburg College was washed out here today with the cancellation of the Bullet-Temple contest.

The Bullets now face five straight games on foreign fields before returning to the home diamond to meet Lafayette on Wednesday, April 22.

Next week Bob Hulton's outfit will play four games as follows: Monday, at Susquehanna; Wednesday, at F. and M.; Friday, at Johns Hopkins, and Saturday, at Western Maryland.

"I have scrapped my pre-season evaluation of our team since our figured strengths have turned into weaknesses and our weaknesses have turned into strength," was the way Hulton summed up the current baseball picture at Gettysburg.

Has Sore Arm
Explaining his remarks, Hulton stated the sore arm of his ace southpaw, Dick Hawkins, Springfield, Mass., was the main cause of his pitching woes. Hawkins, who had a 5-0 record last year including a no-hitter in the NCAA college tournament at Springfield, Mass., hurt his arm after his brilliant 9-0 shut-out victory in the season's opener against Syracuse. His ineffectiveness was evident Wednesday in the Bullets' 10-7 loss to Penn State.

Mel Jacobs, from Camp Hill, has been Hulton's biggest surprise of the young season. The 6' right-hander, who didn't pitch at all in his freshman year, has gone 5 2/3 innings without giving up any runs and only three hits. He undoubtedly will move into a starting role and will be heavily counted on should Hawkins continue to have arm trouble. Regardless of how Jacobs should fare in the future, Hulton is faced with eight games in two weeks with a very shallow mound staff. With Hawkins a question mark, the only other pitcher the young Bullet mentor can count on is Bucky Walters, Glenside, son of baseball great Bucky Walter Sr.

Two Pack Punch
Turning to the offensive side of the Gettysburg nine, the record book shows that the Bullets have racked up 35 hits in three games while pounding the opposition for 25 runs. Pleasant surprises who have contributed greatly to Gettysburg's fireworks are Ken Fruchter, a sophomore fire base from Forest Hills, N. Y., and little Fred Mueller, 5-5 junior from Lancaster. Fruchter has nine hits in 13 times at bat while Mueller has six for 13.

Hulton feels that, regardless of a few defensive "bobbles" at Penn State, the Bullets have a solid defensive infield and outfield with the exception of left field where he is using a converted first baseman.

SPAHN HURLS 7-HITTER TO BLANK BUCS

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Southpaw Warren Spahn, who at 37 has reached the age when most baseball players have either retired or are thinking of retiring, may have come up with something that will keep him in the game a few more years — a couple of new pitches.

The crafty Milwaukee pitcher spoiled the Pittsburgh Pirates' home opener Friday by scattering seven hits in twirling the 4th shutout of his major league career.

Has New Pitches
Spahn, shooting for his 10th season as a 20-game winner, revealed in the dressing room he has developed a couple of new pitches, including a curve. He said it worked especially good against southpaw hitters. Among his six strikeout victims were lefthanders Bill Virdon and Bob Skinner, each of whom struck out twice and failed to get a hit.

Spahn, who will be 38 on April 23, got bats on the back from all hands as the Braves whooped it up in their dressing room.

Spahn himself said: "All I'm looking forward to is to win my next game. But what I have lost in age I have gained in the pitches I have developed. I believe I might be around for awhile at that."

SHIRTWAIST DRESS SAFE BET FOR ALL

By DOROTHY ROE
The Associated Press

Any girl who wants to be safe and sure this spring and summer can settle for a shirtwaist dress.

The all-American favorite now is spring's top fashion hit on both sides of the Atlantic, sharing honors in Paris with the classic suit.

In California and New York collections, shirtwaist dresses stole the show during recent spring openings. And here was one instance where Paris followed suit, with practically every member of the haute couture showing some version of the shirt dress.

This is one of those fashions that never go out of style. Even at the height of the chemise rage, women who balked at the sack silhouette turned to the classic shirtwaist — and looked right.

Any Age, Any Figure
It's the kind of dress that is easy to wear for any age or any figure. The tailored top, the full skirt and the belt in the middle combine to hide figure faults and to put the wearer at ease.

You'll be seeing this perennial silhouette this year in every fabric, from gingham to chiffon, with various treatments of collar and sleeves. Sometimes a wide cummerbund minimizes the waistline. Sometimes a contrasting contoured belt of leather is used. On some versions there's a crisp dickey front, on others the collar is rounded and sports a bow tie.

In any version, the shirtwaist dress once more is the backbone of the knowing woman's wardrobe.

SPAHN EYEING MORE HURLING; NEW PITCHES

By GIB STALEY
PITTSBURGH (AP) — Southpaw Warren Spahn, who at 37 has reached the age when most baseball players have either retired or are thinking of retiring, may have come up with something that will keep him in the game a few more years — a couple of new pitches.

The crafty Milwaukee pitcher spoiled the Pittsburgh Pirates' home opener yesterday by scattering seven hits in twirling the 4th shutout of his major league career for an 8-0 Milwaukee triumph.

"Hurl's Great Game"
Spahn, shooting for his 10th season as a 20-game winner, revealed in the dressing room he has developed a couple of new pitches, including a curve. He said it worked especially good against southpaw hitters. Among his six strikeout victims were lefthanders Bill Virdon and Bob Skinner, each of whom struck out twice and failed to get a hit.

"Spahn pitched a great game," Del Crandall, Braves' catcher, said. "And every man on this club is confident."

Spahn, who'll be 38 April 23, got bats on the back from all hands as the Braves whooped it up in their dressing room.

First baseman Frank Torre said:

Mathews Homers
"That Spahn is fantastic. Now he's developed some new pitches. Well, let me tell you, Spahn is a perfectionist. He uses his head as well as his arm. He'll be around a long time yet."

Spahn laughed and said: "All I'm looking forward to is to win my next game. But what I have lost in age I have gained in the pitches I have developed. I believe I might be around for awhile at that."

The Braves' big third baseman, Eddie Mathews, smashed a two-run homer in the sixth inning. That was all the Braves needed but they went on to score six more runs.

Blast 13 Hits
All told, the Braves collected 13 hits off three Pirate pitchers. Center fielder Bill Bruton and right fielder Hank Aaron chipped in with three each.

Bruton, who suffered a leg injury here in 1957 when he collided with Brave infielder Felix Mantilla, said after the game his leg is giving him no trouble.

"Wes Covington, who had a leg injury last season, also appears in good shape," chimed in Brave Manager Fred Haney. "I think we'll win the pennant, of course. We will miss our great second baseman, Red Schoendienst, but Mantilla did fine and I believe he'll fill the bill."

ROSI KAYOES FRANKIE RYFF

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — Paoli Rosi's camp lost no time today clamoring for a lightweight title shot following the New Yorker's quick victory over Frankie Ryff in a televised fight.

"I demand a championship fight" with titleholder Joe Brown in May or June, screamed Manager Cy Cicci after Rosi had stopped Ryff at 2:43 of the third round Friday night.

"They keep saying one more good win and you're ready for Brown. Well, we're ready."

Rosi, cut badly about the right eye, was behind in the fight until he caught the fast-stepping Ryff flush on the jaw with a sharp right in the third. Ryff went down, was up before the compulsory eight-count ended and then took a jarring left hook. He stiffened and pitched head first to the canvas.

Ryff got up and was staggering back toward Rosi when Referee Joe Palmer stopped it. In the books, it went as a technical knockout.

Louise Suggs Leads Babe Zaharias Open

BEAUMONT, Tex. (AP) — Louise Suggs, the defending champion from Sea Island, Ga., held a two-stroke lead going into the second round of the $6,000 Babe Zaharias Open Golf Tournament today.

She shot a four-under-par 69 Friday over the 6,219-yard Beaumont Country Club course.

In second place in the 54-hole tournament that closes Sunday were Betsy Rawls of Spartanburg, S.C., and Wanda Sanchez of Baton Rouge, La.

Roberts Hurls Phillies To 2-1 Victory Over Reds In Opener; Allows 5 Hits

By RALPH BERNSTEIN
Associated Press Sports Writer

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Is Robin Roberts getting "mean?" The 32-year-old pitcher of the Philadelphia Phillies says no, but the Cincinnati Reds are wondering.

Roberts, one of the finest control artists in the history of baseball, rarely has given batters what pitchers in the trade call a "brush pitch."

Many times the husky right-hander, winner of 207 games in his 10-year major league career, has asserted it's not necessary to "shave" a batter to win.

Hurls Five Hitter
But last night, as Roberts pitched the Phillies to a 2-1 opening game victory, he struck one batter and had two other sluggers hitting the dirt on high, tight pitches. As a result, the Reds weren't digging in and waiting for him to serve his famous home run pitch.

Roberts, last year's National League comeback player of the year, never looked better as he hurled a five-hitter against what probably is the league's most awesome batting order. He was better perfect for 5½ innings. Then, he plunked big Frank Thomas with a pitch.

After rival hurler Don Newcombe singled for the first hit off Robbie with one out in the sixth, he settled down and allowed only a double by Roy McMillan through the eighth.

Rookie Scores Winner
Newcombe was equally effective. He didn't allow the Phillies a hit until the sixth inning when Chico Fernandez singled. Roberts doubled him home for a 1-0 lead.

In the Phillies' eighth, rookie second baseman George Anderson's first major league hit scored what proved to be the winning run as the Reds tallied once in the ninth on three hits.

Big Newk looked like the fireballer of old, who led the Dodgers to pennants a few years back. He threw bullets.

Roberts, however, was the big man on the rainy, 49-degree night. Maybe his "brush pitches" weren't brush, but they served the purpose. They loosened up the

Warriors Host Bubblers Monday At 3:30; Rain Friday Stops All Action

Rain washed out the complete scholastic athletic program scheduled for Adams County teams Friday.

The Gettysburg-Delone High baseball game was re-scheduled for here Tuesday afternoon at 3:30.

As the result of Friday's postponement the Warriors will now open their season here Monday at 3:30 against Boiling Springs.

Coach Ben Jones has announced that Wayne "Doc" Fissel will hurl against the Bubblers while Delone the following day. Plans for opening day ceremonies have been abandoned.

Track Meet Thursday

Gettysburg's track meet with Chambersburg was also postponed and will be held next Thursday at Chambersburg.

Big Spring and Bermudian will make up their postponed ball game at York Springs on Monday.

No date has been set for the Dover-New Oxford game at New Oxford. The Biglerville-Suburban game at York will be played next Thursday.

FREEZING COLD DIDN'T BOTHER OWNER VEECK

DETROIT (AP) — The near-freezing cold didn't bother Bill Veeck.

The thrill of owning a major league club again was enough to warm the buoyant man who grew up in baseball.

Veeck rejected all overtures by well-wishers who wanted to loan him a topcoat in Briggs Stadium's 37-degree weather Friday. It was his active re-entry into baseball's official family as majority stockholder of the Chicago White Sox.

"No, I'm not cold," said Veeck, the only person of 38,332 in the stands without some protection against the numbing chill. "I'm nervous. I'm always nervous at a game."

Wore Summer Suit

Veeck, attired in a blue summer suit and his customary open-throated sportshirt, sat through 4 hours and 25 minutes of baseball. His Sox finally won a 14-inning marathon 9-7 over the Detroit Tigers.

In his box seat behind the Chicago dugout, Veeck clapped his hands, bantered with fans around him, cheered the Sox.

Fox doubled in the first inning. Jim Landis followed with a smash that looked like a hit. Frank Bolling, Detroit's second baseman, snared it and converted it into a double play.

"That was a run," Veeck screamed. "Boom, boom. Tough way to get out of an inning."

The chatter carried on through the 14 innings. Veeck didn't shiver once. He was glad to be back in baseball.

INJURIES HURT HERSHEY BEARS

HERSHEY, Pa. (AP) — The Hershey Bears, with two starters ailing, meet Cleveland tonight in the sixth game of their semifinal series for the American Hockey League's Calder Cup.

Winger Bob Solinger and center Willie Marshall were doubtful starters for the Bears, who hold a 3-2 edge in the best-of-seven series.

Solinger has been under treatment for a possible gall bladder ailment and Marshall is suffering from a virus infection.

"It's strictly up to the club now if they want to win this series badly enough," said Hershey Coach Frank Mathers. "We've got the home ice advantage, but in the last month of the season we couldn't come up with a good game at home. We're long overdue for a big one."

Cleveland, the league's highest scoring entry, has won five of nine games at Hershey during regular play.

If Cleveland wins, the seventh and deciding game will be played Sunday at Cleveland.

IRISH MENTOR EYES SQUAD IN SPRING DRILLS

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN
Associated Press Sports Writer

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP) — Notre Dame's new head football coach, Joe Kuharich, is looking over the players he's got in spring drills and wondering about the players he hopes to get as freshmen when school starts next fall.

"We will give out only about 28 scholarships at most," Kuharich said in an interview. "I think that will be enough. It means, however, that the 28 kids who get them must be exceptional academically as well as athletically."

Eye 100 Prospects

"My assistant coaches have looked at films of at least 100 high school prospects in the last several months. When an alumni tells us there is a good prospect at such and such a high school, we write the coach about him and ask for movies of games he played. If we like what we see, and academically he is sound, we mark him down as a probability."

Kuharich greeted some 120 hopefuls, largest turnout since the war. Although the enthusiasm is there, Kuharich may have to dig to find enough talent to field two teams of near equal ability, only 13 lettermen from last year are back, and that's the smallest group of returnees in 15 years.

Has 50 Freshmen

There are 50 freshmen who will be sophomores in the fall and they are considered at this time to be only so-so. There are no outstanding prospects among the rookies.

"My main problem is finding two tackles and a fullback," said Kuharich. "In about a week we are going to do some special work with our quarterbacks, who include lettermen George Izo and Don White. Eddie LeBaron (Kuharich's quarterback when he coached the Washington Redskins) is coming in for a few days to work with them."

New Oxford High's golfers were nipped by York 8-7 in a battle for first place in the Western Division of the Central Penn Golf League.

Friday was staged in a steady rain. Friday afternoon on the course at Abbottstown.

The setback snapped a winning streak of 15 division victories for Coach Ed Moul's Colonials who swept through the regular season last year unbeaten to win the division championship.

Bob Dohm, York, turned in the low score for the day, a 79.

Summaries:
Phil Bankert, NO, halved Robert Dohm (1½-1½).

Kenneth Laughman, NO, halved Terry Wueschinski (1½-1½).

Ronald Roland, NO, defeated Ken Jacobs 5 and 4 (3-0).

Harold Rudisill, Y, defeated Dick Diehl, 5 and 4 (2½-½).

TIGERS CLAW MOUNTAINEERS

The Mt. St. Mary's College baseball team suffered a 12-6 clobbering at the hands of Hampden-Sydney on the latter's field Friday afternoon for its second loss in as many starts.

The game was the first of a twin bill for the home Tigers who topped Western Maryland 5-2 in the second game.

John Forker of the Mount hit Leon Hawker's first pitch for a homerun over the left field fence but thereafter the Mountaineers were limited to five hits and did not score again until the final inning.

"Dinky" Sheppard was the big gun at bat for Hampden-Sydney and pounded in eight runs on a homerun, double and single.

Today the Mount is scheduled to meet West Virginia at Morgantown.

Bullet-Temple Game Off; Play 4 Away Next Week; Hulton Evaluates Squad

Another scheduled baseball game for Gettysburg College was washed out here today with the cancellation of the Bullet-Temple contest.

The Bullets now face five straight games on foreign fields before returning to the home diamond to meet Lafayette on Wednesday, April 22.

Next week Bob Hulton's outfit will play four games as follows: Monday, at Susquehanna; Wednesday, at F. and M.; Friday, at Johns Hopkins, and Saturday, at Western Maryland.

"I have scrapped my pre-season evaluation of our team since our figured strengths have turned into weaknesses and our weaknesses have turned into strength," was the way Hulton summed up the current baseball picture at Gettysburg.

Many times the husky right-hander, winner of 207 games in his 10-year major league career, has asserted it's not necessary to "shave" a batter to win.

Hurls Five Hitter

But last night, as Roberts pitched the Phillies to a 2-1 opening game victory, he struck one batter and had two other sluggers hitting the dirt on high, tight pitches. As a result, the Reds weren't digging in and waiting for him to serve his famous home run pitch.

Roberts, last year's National League comeback player of the year, never looked better as he hurled a five-hitter against what probably is the league's most awesome batting order. He was better perfect for 5½ innings. Then, he plunked big Frank Thomas with a pitch.

After rival hurler Don Newcombe singled for the first hit off Robbie with one out in the sixth, he settled down and allowed only a double by Roy McMillan through the eighth.

Rookie Scores Winner

Newcombe was equally effective. He didn't allow the Phillies a hit until the sixth inning when Chico Fernandez singled. Roberts doubled him home for a 1-0 lead.

In the Phillies' eighth, rookie second baseman George Anderson's first major league hit scored what proved to be the winning run as the Reds tallied once in the ninth on three hits.

Big Newk looked like the fireballer of old, who led the Dodgers to pennants a few years back. He threw bullets.

Roberts, however, was the big man on the rainy, 49-degree night. Maybe his "brush pitches" weren't brush, but they served the purpose. They loosened up the hitters. Roberts moved his fast ball in and out expertly. His change-up was backbreaking.

Roberts' 10th starting opening day performance — only Walter Johnson's 14 inaugurals top this record — was heartening to the Phillies, but undoubtedly frightening to the rest of the league.

YOUTHS PUSH VET GOLFER

LAKE CHARLES, La. (AP) — Sooner or later, youth will be served, and you couldn't find a better example today than in the $5,000 Lake Charles Invitational Golf Tournament where veteran Dick Metz had his hands full with two young rivals.

As the third round of the 72-hole tournament opened today, the 50-year-old Metz shared first place with 22-year-old Hugh Royer at 137. Only one stroke behind was Mason Rudolph, 24-year-old former Walker Cup team star from Clarksville, Tenn.

Royer, a Columbus, Ga., native making his first start as a pro, fired a 3-under-par 69 Friday over the soggy 6,500-yard Lake Charles Golf and Country Club course.

Metz, runnerup in the 1938 National Open, slipped to a 70 Friday after his opening-round 67. The Fort Worth, Tex., campaigner's putter lacked the punch it had in the opening session.

Rudolph also carded a second-round 70 as a follow-up to his opening 68.

Moran And Murphy Share Relay Honors

QUANTICO, Va. (AP) — Ed Moran of Penn State and Tom Murphy of the New York Athletic Club shared opening day honors Friday in the Quantico Relays.

Moran anchored the Nittany Lions to victories in both the distance medley relay (2½ miles) in 9:53.8, and the 4-mile relay in 17:29.4. The distance medley was the fastest time ever in the East, and the Penn State quartet appears about ready to smash the record of 9:42, set two years ago by the Southern California Striders.

Murphy, for his part, won the half-mile in 1:50.1, a really fine clocking for the first meet of the outdoor season. Murphy is one of America's top hopes to duplicate Tom Courtney's victory in the Olympic 800 meters.

Charlie Stead of Villanova won the high jump with a 6-4 effort.

MOTORIST IS KILLED

BRODHEADSVILLE, Pa. (AP) — A Hazleton motorist suffered fatal injuries Friday when his auto careened off Route 115 near this Monroe County community, and struck a tree.

He was identified by state police as George Washko. He died at Monroe County General Hospital about an hour and a half after the crash. Police said he was alone in the car.

Louise Suggs Leads Babe Zaharias Open

BEAUMONT, Tex. (AP) — Louise Suggs, the defending champion from Sea Island, Ga., held a two-stroke lead going into the second round of the $6,000 Babe Zaharias Open Golf Tournament today.

She shot a four-under-par 69 Friday over the 6,219-yard Beaumont Country Club course.

In second place in the 54-hole tournament that closes Sunday were Betsy Rawls of Spartanburg, S.C., and Wanda Sanches of Baton Rouge, La.

According to the latest figure, approximately 1,500,000 people enter the work force of the United States annually. Eighty-two per cent of these working men and women read a newspaper every day.

LIFE IS WORTH LIVING

One of my favorite quotations from an author is that one by William James, who said: "Be not afraid of life. Believe that life is worth living, and your belief will help create the fact." Here is life. It belongs to each one of us. It is a wonderful gift. We must first decide to do something with it. Then it keeps growing more fascinating, more individual, more worth the living, and more worth getting others to appreciate its significance. Life is what we make it. God gave this life of ours and He is not going to let us down in its handling.

Hasn't it been very revealing to see the effect another person's enthusiasm, faith, courage, and outlook have upon us? We are influenced by others far more than we think. Even our own influence, in like manner has its influence on others, often unknown by us.

I often think of the great wealth of mind and heart is created by a love for books and reading, and for all forms of art. Just to have cultivated both these "loves" is worth the living that has been bequeathed to us. What a lovely life anyone lives who has never opened the door of his mind to let in the beauty and revelations created by this love of books and art.

How I love the springtime. Everything then awakes from its long sleep—the flowers, the trees, the green grass. How glorious are the songs of the many birds who give their concert at early morn and during the twilight of the day. How grateful are these feathered friends for all the care given them during the cold days of winter. I believe God's love has a tiny corner in the heart of every bird.

A Bit Of History About Bits Of Cobean Genealogy

By B. F. M. MacPHERSON

According to a descendant of the pioneer Cobean family they (the Cobean) were of French Huguenot (Alsatian) refugees) ancestry. They fled from the old country, as did so many others, to escape religious persecution. The Cobean first came to America with one of the first expeditions of Jean Ribault in 1562 or 1564, landing at Fort Royal, in what is now South Carolina. Some historians are of the opinion that this group of French Huguenots were the first Protestants to land upon American soil. These people built a fort at Fort Royal but the colony was not to be a permanent one. It gradually disintegrated and many of the people drifted south to what is now Florida. This aroused the suspicions of the Spaniards, who claimed sole ownership of the whole of that region. Jean Ribault, their leader, went back to France for more colonists but, on his arrival there found France at war with the Roman Catholics. It was impossible to return to his colony in Florida for quite some time. When he did return it was to find his fort destroyed and the colonists scattered. Soon after the departure of Ribault the settlement was attacked by the Spaniards and still later the remnants were set upon by the Indians. Of this attack only a few survived. In some way or other some of the Cobean managed to escape and survive.

Arrived In Adams

Almost two hundred years later members of the Cobean family appeared in what is now Adams County, Pennsylvania. In the old records the name is spelled Cobine, Cobean and Kobine. The Rev. A. Skaplen in his "memorial of the Huguenots" lists the name and states that it was originally spelled "Cobean" but was later changed to "Cobin".

Samuel Cobean, of Cumberland Township, York (now Adams) County, Pennsylvania, was a second lieutenant in the First (Captain Thomas Latta's) Company, Fifth Battalion, York County Militia, according to a return of that company on April 5, 1778. Apparently he remained a member of this company and in 1780, when this particular group became the first company of the Second Battalion of the York County Militia, Samuel Cobean was promoted to captain.

Just when the Cobean settled on March Creek is not known, insofar as the exact year is concerned. The name of Captain Samuel A. Cobean appeared on the tax lists of York (now Adams) County in 1767. He (Captain Samuel) settled along Marsh Creek in Cumberland Township, not too far south of the old stone bridge, that once spanned the stream at the old Black Horse (or McClellan) Tavern. He built a grist mill and a saw mill and members of his family and some of their descendants lived there for a number of years.

In Black's Graveyard

It is very possible that Captain Samuel Alexander Cobean, soldier of the Revolution, is buried in Black's Graveyard (Upper Marsh Creek Presbyterian) along with his wife and other members of the family in unmarked graves. As stated before there is quite a large lot, which is obviously the family burial plot—but only two stones remain in it at this late date.

Captain Samuel Alexander Cobean was the father of Alexander Cobean, the first president of the Gettysburg National Bank. The late Edward McPherson had this to say of Mr. Cobean: "Alexander Cobean was born in 1767, in Franklin Township, York (now Adams) County, Pennsylvania. He was a man of superior intelligence, agreeable manners, and great force of character. He was for many years one of the most active citizens of Marsh Creek, owned the Plank (later Bream) Mill, and moved to Gettysburg about 1795. He was the candidate for Congress of the Federal Party in 1814, was the first president of the Bank of Gettysburg, was captain of a company who marched to Baltimore in 1814, and became a colonel in the company of troops in the Battle of North Point, and died April 2, 1823, aged 57 years. The Hon. Thaddeus Stevens, who came to Gettysburg, Pennsylvania, in the fall of 1816, told me Edward McPherson that he regarded Colonel Cobean the strongest man then in the community."

Promoted Gettysburg

"He was very active in having Gettysburg selected as the county seat of the new County of Adams. He was living at Marsh Creek in 1793, and was there en-

SAFE DRIVE

Regulate your driving speed according to road and weather conditions. Extra caution must be used when icy spots prevail.

Often, after a winter storm has passed, or even in early spring, icy spots remain in sheltered places. The Chicago Motor Club warns that motorists should be prepared to encounter slippery sections of road under viaducts, on bridges, and in other shaded spots.

If you should skid on ice, don't slam on the brakes. Turn your front wheels in the direction your rear wheels are skidding. This will tend to keep the rear end of the car from whipping around as you ease the brakes on one off to stop.

Dalai Lama Is Bad News In New Delhi

THE REVOLT IN TIBET

against Communism has spotlighted two men. The Dalai Lama is the 23-year-old god-king of obscure Tibet. Jawaharlal Nehru is the leader of India's teeming millions.

Until a few days ago the former was merely an anachronistic oddity for embellishing travelogue films and books about far-away places.

But Nehru is an old and conspicuous performer on the international stage. He wears the mantle of the late Mahatma Gandhi whom scores of millions of Asiatics consider a Christ-like messiah. It was this, with England's withdrawal, that made Nehru prime minister of India. So great is his prestige that in his country he had no political or philosophical rival.

FOR THE PAST TEN YEARS

Nehru has used his unique position to posture as the self-righteous apostle of neutralism.

Actually, Nehru has been of far more aid and comfort to the Red Chinese and the masters of the Kremlin than he has ever been to the West.

Though England extended the freedom to India as a nation that has made Nehru a prime minister and though America has extended the wheat and other aids that on at least one occasion saved his people from famine, he has had few kind words for the western alliance against communism.

Indeed, at awkward moments for the West he has more than once indulged in student sophistries pandering to the natural suspicion of backward peoples for imperialism which he always associates with the West but has failed to observe in China and Russia.

Nehru's consistent refusal to take a stand against Russia's ruthless treatment of Hungary's brief bid for freedom was so flagrant that it became an apology for communism and an encouragement to new aggressions.

THE BLOOD OF FOUL

Red aggression now stains the still of Nehru's own back door, Tibet. His own people are outraged. Tibet's Dalai Lama is a political and religious refugee in India.

American headlines, TV and radio commentators leave the impression that Nehru is wiggling down from his neutrality wall to take a position alongside the western allies.

Do not bet on it. Nehru, like Gandhi before him and whose philosophy he exemplifies, is a past master at saint-like "passive action" accompanied by most unsavory abusive propaganda against any people or peoples who speak the English language.

Like many other Indian intellectuals, he suffers from a monumental inferiority complex for his people if not for himself. Gandhi fashioned it into a successful, philosophical technique for driving England out of India.

It will require far more than a bloody, Communist suppression of a revolt by the yak herdsman worshippers of the Dalai Lama to

By TOM HENSHAW
AP Religion Writer

The oldest existing American Protestant missionary effort takes a big step toward folding its tent next week.

Ceremonies in Beirut, Lebanon, on Wednesday will mark the official beginning of a merger of Protestant missions in Syria and Lebanon into the independent National Evangelical Synod of Syria and Lebanon.

It is part of a long-range Protestant program to hand over control of foreign missions to the native churches and disassociate Protestant Christianity from hated Western colonialism.

Mostly Presbyterian

American Protestant missionaries began work in Syria and Lebanon in 1823, under the supervision of the American Board of Commissioners for Foreign Missions, which then included both Congregationalists and Presbyterians.

The board now is an agency of the Congregational Christian Churches but most of the missionary work in Syria and Lebanon has been carried on by the Presbyterians.

When the merger finally is accomplished the National Evangelical Synod will inherit 57 missionaries and about a million dollars worth of mission property.

Although the number of Arab Protestants is small—there are less than 250,000 in the whole Middle East—the Protestant influence has been considerable.

Change In Support

Among the properties slated to pass out of mission control is the Beirut College for Women, the first such institution established in the Turkish Ottoman Empire.

The mission properties also include Aleppo College for Men in Syria, the Near East School of Theology in Beirut, seven secondary schools, two hospitals and a tuberculosis sanatorium.

The Syrian and Lebanese mission projects receive about $400,000 a year from American churches.

Financial support will not be cut off completely after the merger but, instead of a fixed sum, the American churches will contribute funds only as they are needed.

In a recent study conducted by Eugene Gilbert & Co., noted teen-age research authorities, teen-agers were asked "Did you read a newspaper yesterday?" Eight out of every ten replied that they had.

During 1957, newspapers in the United States invested $129,991,529 to improve their plants and equipment—the better to serve both readers and advertisers.

Frantz, pastor of the Arendtsville charge of the Evangelical and Reformed church, will observe his fifth anniversary as pastor of the charge at a special service to be held in Zion Reformed church, Arendtsville, Sunday evening at 7 o'clock.

Masonic Order Will Revive Ascension Rite: Gettysburg Commandery No. 79, Knights Templar, this year will revive the annual Ascension Festival service, the committee in charge announced today.

The affair, for which hundreds come here, is scheduled for Sunday, May 15, at the Gettysburg National Cemetery.

Mrs. Sheely Is Head Of New Auxiliary Unit: Mrs. Raymond F. Sheely was elected president of the Women's Auxiliary to the Adams County Medical society at a meeting Tuesday afternoon at the Gettysburg country club establishing the new group here.

Other officers named Tuesday included Mrs. Roy W. Gifford, president-elect; Mrs. L. L. Potter, Littlestown, secretary, and Mrs. Leon Roos, since the vice president automatically moves up to the presidency at the end of a term the organization uses the vice president, it was explained.

Library Gets Jail At $9,000: The old Adams county jail property on East High street was sold at public sale Wednesday afternoon to the Adams County Free Library for $9,000, the same price the library had offered for the property previously.

The property has a frontage of 173.5 feet on East High street and a depth of 180 feet and includes the old jail residence, cell blocks and other brick buildings.

Commanderies Conduct Joint Installation: Approximately 100 Knights Templar and their ladies from Gettysburg, Hanover, York and Littlestown attended a joint public installation of the officers of Gettysburg Commandery No. 79 and Bethel Commandery No. 96, Hanover, in the Masonic temple, Hanover, on Tuesday evening.

Officers of the Gettysburg Commandery installed were: Wilbur L. Plank, eminent commander; Richard H. Hignboham, generalissimo; Miles S. Kleinfelter, captain general; Ray J. Kitzmiller, treasurer; William R. Swisher, senior warden; George N. Coshum, junior warden; Blaine G. Walker, standard bearer, and Paul A. McGore, sword bearer. Charles W. Myers was continued as recorder which office he has held since 1932. Other Gettysburg officers who were reappointed to offices which they held last year were: The Rev. Harry R. Lee, prelate; T. J. Wnebrener, assistant prelate; John D. Seidle, warden, and John L. Bower, sentinel. George T. Raffensperger is the retiring commander.

Harman Heads Moose Lodge As Governor: Clifford Harman was elected governor of the Gettysburg lodge of the Moose at the annual election of officers Thursday evening at the Moose home, York street. He succeeds Daniel Miller.

Other officers elected at Thursday's meeting include Stephen C. Smith, junior governor; C. Lester Oyler, prelate; Charles L. Lauver, secretary for three years; Willis Conover, treasurer; Robert E. Fox, trustee.

Dr. N. Sterrett Weds Saturday At Port Royal: The marriage of Miss Caroline Kloss Robinson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank A. Robinson, of Port Royal, to Dr. W. North Sterrett, son of Mr. William E. Sterrett and the late Mr. Sterrett of Milltown, was solemnized Saturday evening at 6 o'clock at the Presbyterian church at Port Royal.

DOWN AND OUT

"Down and out" is a phrase we use too often in a heedless, careless way. Because one battle a man may lose, "He is down and out," the scoffers say. But many have risen to win renown. Who have felt the sting of Fate's knotted knot. It doesn't follow because he's down, That a man has also been counted out.

There's always a chance to rise again. If a man has faith in himself, and tries; He can win the cheers of his fellow men. And some time capture the golden prize. Today's defeat isn't worth a frown; Keep your eyes ahead and your courage stout; It doesn't follow because you're down. That you have also been counted out.

"Down and out!" Man is never that. If he has the courage to start again. If Fate has humbled and knocked him flat. He still can smile on his fellow men. If he has the courage to hide his frown, Remember this as you go about, Although today he is surely down, It's a mortal cinch that he isn't out.

STUDY BAR TO DEVELOPMENT

WASHINGTON (AP)—The National Park Service agreed Thursday to study the possibility of preserving the Antietam battlefield at Sharpsburg, Md., without buying all of it.

Director Conrad L. Wirth of the Park Service told the House Interior Committee that his agency would study such a suggestion. The suggestion was made by Rep. Quentin Burdick (D-MD) that present owners, mostly farmers, be paid a fee to agree to a permanent restricted covenant against developing their property.

Burdick made the suggestion after Rep. James Haley (D-Fla) criticized the park service's Mission 66 program. The program is a 10-year effort designed to bring the national park facilities in line with needs by 1966.

Haley questioned whether it was proper for Wirth to include the Antietam purchase and the proposed development of the Chesapeake and Ohio Canal Park in a revised 646 million dollar cost estimate for Mission 66.

Neither project has been authorized by Congress, Haley said, and the purchase of additional Antietam land with anything but donated, private funds is barred by law.

Wirth replied that he was only trying to give Congress a realistic appraisal of the program's needs and cost.

Rep. John R. Foley (D-Md) has offered a bill to allow the Park Service to use public money to expand the Antietam Battlefield Park. Members of the committee plan to visit the battlefield today.

Wirth said that in another few years, unless protected, part of the battlefield site will be subdivided and thus lost for park purposes.

The name of the state of Arizona comes from the Spanish name of "Arida Zona," meaning "dry area."

Others in the Manor of the Masque. Other members of the family may be buried in this cemetery—if so the graves are unmarked. These notes will be continued next week.

Garden Plan Saves Waste; Dog Liability Explained; Recommends Milking Plan

By FRANK S. ZETTLE
Adams County Farm Agent
"Plan before you plant" is a basic rule for suggestful vegetable gardening.

For instance, many vegetables grown in the home garden are wasted because too large a quantity of one vegetable matures at the same time. With few exceptions, vegetables remain edible for only a short period after they reach maturity. Top quality is even more transient.

One way to avoid having too large a crop at once, then nothing, is to make successive plantings of the same vegetable. Plant only enough seed of crops like lettuce, radish, and spinach to provide the amount that can be used within a short period. Then, after a few weeks, plant another lot to mature after the first harvest has been exhausted. Or, if the variety used does not well later in the season, plant other varieties that mature later.

Study Varieties
This kind of planning calls for a careful study of seed varieties and must be done well ahead of planting time. It also may require the purchase of more seed, therefore a somewhat larger investment. But these things pay off in greater satisfaction at harvest time.

Another thing to look for in studying the seed varieties is the height to which they will grow. Plant tall-growing crops together and low-growing ones together, preferably to the south of the taller ones, to avoid shading the lower plants. Vegetables need about 8 hours of full sunlight to produce well.

Milk With Care

Dairymen who treat milk and each cow as an individual has the correct approach to the milking problem. Never sacrifice individual attention and quality milk production for speed. Advertisements making a race track out of the stable or milk parlor at milking time are doing the cow wrong.

Except for proper preparation prior to milking, and removing the machine immediately after milking-out, there is little a dairyman can do to speed up the milking time. Each cow has a specific rate at which she milks, and attempts to change this rate will fail. Some cows milk fast, others slow. To treat all cows alike in the milking routine generally results in abuse and injury to the udder of a fast milker. Improper use of the milking machine is a major source of mastitis.

Dog Owners Liable

Amendments to the Pennsylvania Dog Law of 1921 increase payments to farmers for livestock losses caused by dogs. Each year dogs kill or injure thousands of dollars worth of livestock and poultry, and owners of dogs causing the damage are liable for the amount of the loss. Complaint for damage to any livestock can be made to any township auditor, justice of the peace, alderman, or magistrate.

If the owner of the dog or dogs is not known, payment is made by the state for each animal destroyed by dogs, in amounts not exceeding the following: unregistered cattle, $150; registered cattle, $250; unregistered sheep, swine or goats, $25; registered sheep, swine, or goats, $50;

On The House

NEW YORK (AP)—A tidy work bench and an orderly repair kit are essential to the home handyman. Well tended tools and neatly stored materials are the marks of a careful workman.

Treated with respect, even complex tools give long, trouble-free service. On the other hand, neglected, dull and rusted tools make repair jobs more difficult.

Another thing, if your work bench looks like it's been hit by a hurricane, there's always the tendency to postpone minor repair jobs until they become costly, major ones.

Start tidying up by wedding out useless items such as dried out cans or jars of putty and paste, rusted nails, scrambled nuts and bolts, worn down pencil stubs and broken tools. Replace only what you need.

To avoid waste through breakage, spillage and drying out, buy repair kit items packaged in unbreakable and easily capped containers, whenever possible.

Metal Tubes Are Handy

Hardware stores carry a large assortment of home repair materials in fold-up metal tubes. These are easy to handle, easy to store, and they have the additional advantage of being light in weight and air tight.

Metal tubes roll up, like a tube of toothpaste, as the materials in them are used and they require less storage space in a repair kit. They also can be hung on a wall or on the back of a work bench in a row of small spring clips.

A second row of spring clips, mounted on the back of your work bench or on the wall, can be used to hold your tools. A handyman's repair kit, incidentally, should include at least a medium-weight hammer, pliers, a small wire cutter, large and small screw drivers, a small saw and a monkey wrench. Also, a flexible tape measure, insulating tape and an assortment of nails and screws.

Improvised Apartment Bench

A full-fledged work bench usually is a luxury reserved for the homeowner. Yet you can improvise one in an apartment if you have a spare, solid closet door—leading, say, into a storage closet. Using plywood, hinges and a piece of 2 by 6 as a base, the latter secured against the back of the door, make your apartment work bench in much the same way you would make a drop leaf table mounted on a wall.

The top edge of the 2 by 6 base horses and mules, $100; geese and turkeys, $5; other poultry, game birds, and tame rabbits, $1.50.

Actual Value

Appraisals are at the actual value of the livestock killed or injured.

A farmer may kill any dog which he sees in the act of pursuing or wounding any livestock, whether or not such a dog bears a license tag. There shall be no liability or responsibility of any nature for such killing.

Any local police officer may seize a dog running at large. If the dog is tagged, the owner is notified and is given 10 days to claim him. A dog owner should know where his dog is at all times, and should keep the dog under control.

Here's The Answer

The Associated Press
By ANDREW C. LANG

Question: Some months ago I bought a second-hand jointer for smoothing the edges of boards. It worked fine until recently, when it began to chatter slightly. Also, the board edges do not seem to be coming out as smooth as they used to. Can you tell me what the trouble is?

Answer: The symptoms you describe indicate that the cutter blades of the jointer are in need of sharpening. You can have this done professionally or, if you have experience along this line, do it with a flat oilstone or slipstone. You can get a booklet describing the sharpening process from almost any dealer who sells jointers.

Question: I want to make a room divider with glass blocks but am a bit leery about handling mortar or cement. A friend tells me there's a new way to hold the blocks together. Is this so?

Answer: Yes, it is now possible to buy a prefabricated system for building interior sections of glass blocks with strips of woods and wedges.

Question: I began taking up metal working as a hobby recently. In reading over various instructions for projects, I often run across the term "draw filing." Can you tell me what it means?

Answer: Draw filing is the finish filing which gives a smooth surface to a piece of metal that previously has been filed roughly. In draw filing, it is important that only a very smooth file be used. The filing is not done in the normal manner, which is by pushing the file lengthwise straight ahead or slightly diagonally. Instead, the file is grasped with one hand at each end and pushed and pulled sideways across the work. In doing draw filing, an even pressure must be maintained at all times.

JUSTICE IN HOTROD

LOCKPORT, N.Y. (AP)—When a garage mechanic discovered that Samuel R. Searing's station wagon was "souped up" and capable of 120 m.p.h. speeds, it came as quite a surprise to Searing.

He's a police justice, and said: "That's well over twice as fast as I'd ever care to drive."

should be placed about 36 inches off the floor and mounted horizontally on the inside of the door with the 6-inch-wide face against the door. The base should be trimmed enough at the sides to permit the door to close.

The plywood bench should be cut the same width of the trimmed base and about 30 inches in depth. Hinge it to the base. A lightweight, collapsible "horse" completes the apartment work bench. Simply open the closet door, raise the plywood on its hinges and rest it on the horse.

The part of the door above the drop-leaf work bench can be used to hang tools and materials just as if it were the back of a basement work bench.

IKE, NIXON SEE VICTORY FOR GOP IN '60

By D. HAROLD OLIVER
WASHINGTON (AP)—Republicans, building for the 1960 elections on the ruins of their 1958 defeats, today pick a new national chairman and a national convention city.

A Republican victory in 1960 was predicted Friday night by both President Eisenhower and Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

Eisenhower sent a message to the Republican National Committee meeting here from his Georgia vacation headquarters. He said such a victory will be assured "if we stand resolutely for, and work energetically to implement, those fundamentals in which we believe as Republicans."

Ovation For Nixon

The President told the committee the nation supports a balanced budget.

Nixon told a banquet audience it is not enough for Republicans to believe in balanced budgets and private enterprise. A sure candidate for the party's 1960 presidential nomination, the vice president won a standing ovation from the National Committee members.

Nixon said "We must make it clear that we do not believe in these things as ends in themselves, but as means to an end—that the reason we are for a balanced budget and that the reason we favor private enterprise rather than government enterprise is that we are convinced such policies are the best and surest ways for progress for the American people."

"Road To Victory"

The committee winds up a two-day "road to victory" meeting today by electing a new chairman to succeed the retiring Meade Alcorn of Connecticut. He is expected to be Sen. Thurston B. Morton of Kentucky, an Eisenhower supporter and friend of Nixon.

The question of a place and date for the 1960 convention also was to be settled, with Chicago and the week of July 25 in high favor. Five other cities submitted bids.

BABY DIES OF SUFFOCATION

HARRISBURG (AP)—Dense smoke from an exploding oil heater filled an apartment dwelling Friday, suffocating a 7-month-old infant and hospitalizing her two sisters.

Lucretia M. Stewart, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William L. Stewart, died in Polyclinic Hospital about a half hour after she and her sisters were carried from a smoke-filled third floor bedroom by firemen.

The other children were reported in serious condition today. They are Gwendolyn, 2, who was taken to Polyclinic Hospital, and Caroline Ann, 17 months, a patient at Harrisburg Hospital.

Elmer Shover, assistant fire chief, said the blaze started in and was confined to a second floor apartment occupied by Henry Bennett, 70.

Thick smoke spread quickly to the third floor where the children apparently were asleep in a front bedroom.

Shover said firemen carried the mother down a ladder and returned after they learned the children were still in the building.

HOLDENVILLE, Okla. (AP)—Arnold Palmer recently received two $1 bills in the mail from Sioux City, Iowa. The letter said: "For room rent due since September 18, 1933. $2. Paid." It was signed E. Coburn.

Palmer said the letter was addressed to "a Mr. Palmerton, Whitehouse Hotel, Holdenville, Okla." Palmer was owner and manager of the hotel which went out of business in 1937.

Parisian Hats Get Bigger All Ways

PARIS (AP)—The bigger the better is the word for new Paris hats.

Brims of all shapes and sizes are the dominant note in all collections, in both tailored and frilly versions.

Paris milliners say there's a hat for every woman's taste in the new lineup. The tailored girl may take her pick of trim, manish sailors and derbies, preferred in shiny straws and often worn with big-mesh veils drawn snugly over the face. Great swaths of fine tulle veiling also are much in evidence, either softening the severity of tailored hats or adding drama to evening confections.

The big, dramatic black hat for restaurant dining also stages a comeback this spring. A striking example is a huge crownless cartwheel made of shirred black tulle, sparked by a huge jeweled ornament front and center. This is designed by Paulette.

In addition to brimmed hats, there are plenty of deep cloches and bulky pillboxes, but even these take on added height and width.

DEATHS

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
FRANKFORT, Ind. (AP)—Alice H. Norris, 92, former national president of the World War I Mothers, died Friday in a nursing home.

LIMA, Ohio (AP)—Mildred P. McCullough, 63, mother of singer Helen O'Connell, died Thursday after a brief illness. She was a native of Sandusky, Ohio.

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP)—Dale Beronius, an artist for the Kansas City Star for 39 years, died Friday after an operation to repair a ruptured aorta. He was 56.

PITTSBURGH, Pa. (AP)—Dr. Ray Osmond Hughes, prominent author of elementary and high school textbooks on social studies and citizenship, died Friday. He was 79.

GOLFER DIES

GALVESTON, Tex. (AP)—Wallace Lee Norrell, 21, promising freshman golfer at the University of Houston, collapsed and died Friday while playing golf at the Galveston Country Club. Cause of death was undetermined.

NIXON RELEASED

BOSTON (AP)—Pitcher Willard Lee Norrell, 21, promising freshman golfer at the Boston Red Sox, The Sox announced Friday Nixon would join Minneapolis of the American Assn. on a trial basis.

George Bernard Shaw received the Nobel Prize in 1925. At that time he said he wrote for the simple, everyday person; not for society in general.

PROPER SPRAY PLAN LESSENS BROWN ROT

In peach spray information letter No. 3, County Agent Frank Zettle explained to fruit growers proper use of insecticides for "brown rot." Zettle noted, "The critical period for brown rot is from pink to petal fall. Warm, wet weather during bloom enables the brown rot spores from mummies on the ground or in the trees to cause blossom blight. Once the brown rot fungus has entered the blossoms, it grows into the twigs where it lives until harvest. Each infested twig may produce enough spores to rot hundreds of peaches at harvest."

"In 1958 brown rot caused serious loss in a few orchards and was present in most plantings of peaches."

Zettle suggests these control measures: Remove all mummied peaches from trees before the blossoms open and when possible, use complete or partial cultivation before bloom. Mummies on the ground that have been disturbed by cultivation are unable to produce spores that may cause blossom infection.

The following sprays for pink through bloom period are suggested. They are to be used in each 100 gallons of spray.
Dichloro 50 per cent WP (Phygon), ½ pound dilute, one pound concentrate; or Captan 50 per cent WP, two pounds dilute, six pounds concentrate.

"Apply either spray when first blossoms open and where brown rot is a problem or frost injury to blossoms has occurred. Repeat application every four or five days through bloom," Zettle said.

"Where catfacing has been a problem, add to pink spray DDT 50 per cent WP, two pounds dilute of six pounds concentrate. Or you may use dieldrin 50 per cent WP, one half pound dilute or one and one-half pounds for a concentrated mixture."

"If black knot is a problem on plums—in addition to pruning out the knots, spraying in the pre-blossom stage aids in preventing black knot infection. Use either dichloro or captan as suggested for peaches."

All spray letters are prepared in consultation with J. O. Pepper and O. D. Burke from Pennsylvania State University, Zettle said.

Spontaneous Buying Bad On Clothing Budget; Use Of Plaids, Weaves Explained

By MRS. HELEN TUNISON
Associate Home Economist

Shopping without a plan or budget for the family clothing budget. Enticing displays tempt the pennies and dollars faster than is wise for the pocketbook.

Make a list of the garments and accessories needed and plan color schemes according to your present wardrobe.

Carefully select accessories to go with the basic dress or suit to extend the life of the garment and bring a fresh touch to the costume. Coordination of the colors, textures, and designs in fabrics or garments bring variety to the wardrobe. One basic suit or dress will fit the requirements of all but the homemaker with a full social schedule.

Take Inventory
A check of scarves, costume jewelry, gloves, hats, and handbags suitable for further wear will show the real need for new seasonal purchases.

If you find after the inventory that it's necessary to make or buy a new dress, carefully select the fabric or garment you buy. Read the label, learn the characteristics of the fabric and what it will do for you if you take good care of it. Check the pattern envelope for the amount of fabric you'll need to make the garment. If you're tempted to buy packaged yard goods, study the label on the package, check the yardage available, then examine the fabric and compare other colors.

Careful With Plaid
Color and more color is in the fashion picture for spring. And, ranking high in popularity, are colorful checks and plaids.

There's a plaid for every personality and figure type—from the small, neat housewife to the big, bold plaid which combines many colors.

Whether you buy ready-made clothes or whether you make your own, choose your plaid garment or fabric carefully. Small, muted checks are best for the petite person. Bigger, bolder plaids look well on tall women with a large frame. When predominant lines of a plaid go across the figure, an impression of width and added weight is given. When predominant color lines run up and down, they seem to add height to the figure.

Choose Simple Design
If you plan to make a plaid suit or dress, choose a simple pattern with few pieces. A simple pattern will let the beauty of the fabric stand out. Extra fabric is needed to match plaids. The larger the plaid, the more fabric is required. The plaid must be woven straight on the grain or you will be in for trouble in cutting and stitching.

Plan where the predominant lines of the plaid will be on the finished garment. Center front and center back are good locations. Predominant lines which are carefully balanced to the right and left of center front and back are fine for the slim figure.

Don't have the outstanding line of a plaid cross the figure at the fullest part of the bustline or hipline. Choose a dark line to center on the belt, and plan for a dark line at the hem edge.

Then lay out the pattern, cut garment pieces, mark notches, and stitch carefully. With just a little extra care throughout, the plaid suit or dress you make will be a stunning outfit.

Satin Weaves
Lustrous satin weaves are being featured in bright splashy floral prints.

Sateens are made of cotton fiber woven with long floats in the filling and with the smoothness lying across the fabric. Low-grade sateens are dull and coarse while the higher grade sateens are mercerized to give a lustrous appearance.

Higher grade, long staple cotton fibers are naturally more lustrous and are used in producing high-quality fabrics. Because of the delicacy of some of these fine cotton fibers, the fabric may not be so strong as a high-grade standard sateen. Sateens may be given extra polishing and finishing to give more luster and a soft hand.

Check Labels
Read labels for guarantees of colorfastness, shrink resistance, permanence, drip-dry resin finish and fiber content.

Rich surahs and foulards are other satin-weave fabrics. A rich luster is given them by long floats woven with a diagonal twill on the surface.

Surah differs from foulard in the weight of the fabric. Foulard is usually lighter, softer, with more delicate hand. The heavier surah is often worn in plaids. Originally made of silk, these fabrics today may be of man-made fibers. Labels must indicate fiber content if fabric is not made of pure silk.

Twill weaves produce strong sturdy fabrics. Most common are the work denims. Denim has a colored warp yarn and a white filling yarn which gives a whitish appearance on the cotton fabric.

Lightweight denims are found in children's colorful play clothes, sportswear and dresses. Medium and heavy weights are used in home furnishings.

Gabardine, a twill weave fabric with a steeper twill than denim, may be wool, cotton, rayon, or a blend of fibers.

Some twills have a characteristic diagonal pattern on the fabric's surface and appear to have a smooth, even plain weave on the back. Wool-twill flannels are twilled or diagonally ridged on both sides of the fabric. The flannel has a soft nap brushed up on the surface. An exception is cotton canton flannel, which is napped on the back and twilled on the surface.

OILS AID IN CONTROL OF SCALE, SCAB

To control this year's crop of scales, mite eggs, red bug eggs, and scab in the delayed dormant period, County Agent Frank Zettle offers timely spray formulas in an apple spray information letter recently mailed to growers.

He reports where scales were found on fruit during 1958 or on branches while pruning this year, oil should be used either in the green tip or delayed dormant spray. Oil is more effective against mites and red bugs when used in the delayed dormant period.

"During that period, scab spores are mature and powdery mildew infection may occur on susceptible varieties like Jonathan and Rome. Karathane or sulphur are the most effective materials for mildew control, but these materials should not be used with oil," Zettle said.

Use green tip spray when McIntosh or Stayman show about inch green and complete by the time buds show 1/4 inch green. Zettle recommends the following formulas where scales are a problem only: Miscible superior oil, two gallons in 100 gallons of water or three gallons of oil for a concentrated spray (the dilute spray preferred). Superior oil emulsions at three gallons dilute or four and one-half gallons concentrate may also be used.

Use delayed dormant spray when fruit buds show from 1/2 to 3/4 inch green. The ideal time is when two small flat leaves are present on the blossom buds. Use either of these formulas according to your problems in each 100 gallons of water: Glyodin, 1 1/2 pints, dilute or 4 1/2 pints concentrate; Tag Fungicide, 1.6 pint dilute or 1/4 pint concentrate.

Where scales are a problem and oil was not applied in the green tip spray use either formula: (Do not apply oil in both sprays). Miscible superior oil, two gallons dilute or three gallons concentrate; Glyodin, one quart dilute or three quarts concentrate.

Zettle reminded growers there is no safe combination of oil and fungicide to eradicate scab infection which has occurred before this spray is applied. The 1959 spray schedule may be used for other materials to be used in the delayed dormant period.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Names and salaries of all Senate employees would be published under a resolution introduced by Sen. Wayne Morse (D-Ore).

"I see nothing so special about senators' offices that justifies keeping a veil of secrecy over the salaries we pay," Morse told the Senate Friday.

The move to make payrolls public stems from a series of recent disclosures of nepotism in Congress—the hiring of relatives.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Polio has struck more victims so far this year than it did during the corresponding period in 1958.

The Public Health Service says there were 207 paralytic cases the week of April 4, as against 113 a year ago.

There have been 298 cases of all kinds of polio this year, compared with 205 last year.

Nixon Wants To Meet Fidel Castro

WASHINGTON (AP)—Vice President Richard M. Nixon wants to talk with Fidel Castro, and they may get together during the Cuban leader's visit here next week.

Castro's only scheduled visit with a U.S. government official so far is a luncheon in his honor arranged by Acting Secretary of State Christian Herter.

But reports are circulating here that a meeting between Castro and Nixon is certain. In Florida on vacation recently, Nixon told newsmen he is "looking forward to the opportunity to meet and talk with Fidel Castro."

U. S. WILL WAGE WAR ON CRIME

WASHINGTON (AP)—A special government task force against organized crime, having completed a year-long study of nationwide racketeering, is now moving into the action stage with an expanded staff.

Atty. Gen. William P. Rogers said Friday, "The full weight of federal law enforcement is now being concentrated on syndicated criminal operations." He indicated a sharp increase in prosecutions against top racketeers.

Rogers said his special group on organized crime, created last April "has successfully completed its temporary assignment" of coordinating information about top hoodlums from every source.

The group of 16, headed by Milton R. Wessel, a former New York prosecutor, now will be integrated into federal district attorneys' offices in New York, Chicago, Los Angeles and Miami, Rogers said.

HALUSKA CAN'T RUN FOR BENCH

HARRISBURG (AP)—John J. Haluska, his bid to run for a Cambria County judgeship denied by Dauphin County Court, made plans instead today to seek another term in the State Senate.

The court ruled Friday that a person aspiring for a judgeship must be learned in the law.

The decision upheld the State Elections Bureau which refused to accept nomination petitions for Haluska for the May 19 primary election. Haluska had planned to seek the judgeship on both the Democratic and Republican tickets.

Judge Karl E. Richards, in handing down the opinion, reminded Haluska that he could appeal to a higher court.

However, Haluska said he would not appeal the ruling, adding: "I am happy that I can run for the State Senate where I can help make laws without being an attorney."

Ike Will Attend Taft Dedication

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP)—President Eisenhower plans to resume his vacation here immediately after keeping two Washington engagements early next week.

Eisenhower told visiting Republican leaders at the Augusta National Golf Club Friday that he'll go to Washington Monday afternoon and return here the next afternoon.

The President's two Washington engagements are a speech Monday night at a Republican Women's dinner, and taking part Tuesday morning in dedication of a Bell tower at the capitol to the late GOP Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio.

Eisenhower didn't say how long he would remain in Augusta after returning. But the guessing is up to a week from Sunday.

SNOW, COLD, RAIN SWEEP MANY AREAS

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Near-freezing temperatures, rain or snow gripped most of the nation today.

An irritating cold enveloped the midcontinent and rain harassed the East as the third week of spring ended.

Fresh snow on the heels of a midweek storm that smacked the Rockies, cast a thin blanket over parts of the Plains and the upper Mississippi Valley.

Only the Far West enjoyed fair climates.

Rain and drizzle prevailed from the Great Lakes into the Northeast and middle Atlantic region. It also dipped to the Gulf Coast.

Most notable rain was 42 inches during a 6-hour period at Washington, D.C. and Pensacola, Fla. More snow fell in Wyoming and Colorado and as far south as Dallas, Texas. Denver recorded an inch early today as did Lemmon, S.D.

Heaviest snow was at least 4 inches at Redwood Falls, Minn.; Duluth, Minn., measured 2 inches Friday.

MARTIN ASKS MORE GAS TAX

HARRISBURG (AP)—Highways Secretary Park Martin today pinned hopes for a speedier interstate road-building program on legislative approval of a higher gasoline tax.

Martin said interstate projects could be speeded up considerably if the state obtains more funds to finance the multimillion dollar highway program.

"You can't work without money," he told a delegation from the Automobile Expressway Assn. Friday.

Martin said construction of a 30-mile section of the proposed expressway between Harrisburg and Scranton could start in 1961-63 if more road revenue is obtained.

The expressway was omitted entirely in a five-year priority issued last January by former highways secretary Lewis M. Stevens who based his figures on existing revenue estimates and traffic counts.

Martin has asked the 1959 Legislature to increase the five-cent-a-gallon gasoline tax to six cents, the cost of auto tags from $10 to $15 and the fee for operators' licenses from $1 to $2. It would raise 39 1/2 million dollars in the next two-year fiscal period starting June 1.

Canada had an estimated population of 17,048,000 on June 1, 1958. Montreal is the largest city with a population of 1,109,439.

Measles Epidemic Hits Philadelphia

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—A severe outbreak of measles has hit Philadelphia, the City Health Department reports. One death has been attributed to the disease.

So far, 2,639 cases have been reported. The health department said Friday the outbreak was approaching epidemic proportions, but cautioned against alarm.

Measles runs in cycles and there is no immunization, so little can be done about it, the department said.

Last year, 5,103 cases of measles were reported, with one death.

TOKYO (AP)—The unemployed commoner who stoned the royal wedding procession once wanted to challenge members of Japan's imperial family to a duel.

Police said a notebook found in the apartment of Kensetsu Nakayama, 19, carried the following notation addressed to members of the imperial family. "I challenge you to a duel on April 10." It was dated March 26.

Nakayama will be turned over to the Tokyo district prosecutor's office Sunday for indictment, police said. A charge of "committing violence," carrying a maximum penalty of two years imprisonment, will be recommended.

Nakayama hurled a stone at Crown Prince Akihito and Princess Michiko Friday as they left the Imperial Palace after their marriage to ride through cheering throngs in an open carriage.

The stone narrowly missed the prince. Police pounced on Nakayama seconds later as he vaulted onto the side of the moving coach in a lunge towards Akihito.

"I have hated the Emperor and Empress ever since my primary school days when my teachers forced me to bow deeply in the direction of the Imperial Palace," police quoted the youth as saying.

Says Millions Of Johnnys Are Wrongly Called Slow

By G. K. MODENFIELD
A.P. Education Writer

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. (AP)—Little Johnny is the most misunderstood boy in America.

There doesn't seem to be anything wrong with him. It's just that he is a slow learner who can't keep up with his class in school. No matter how hard he tries, how much his teacher coaxes or how often his parents threaten, Johnny falls further and further behind.

"There are millions of Johnnys in this country and we aren't beginning to do enough for them," says Ivan K. Garrison, president-elect of the Council for Exceptional Children.

Least Understood
"We recognize the special problems of the physically handicapped and the mentally retarded, and we make provision for them. We're beginning to make progress on the problems of the exceptionally gifted student. But these are the extreme cases, fairly easy to identify.

"The slow learner, however, is the least understood of all our children, and the one for whom we've made the fewest provisions."

Garrison, attending the CEC convention here, said in an interview that each slow learner and his particular difficulty should be studied carefully.

"Part of the problem," he said, "is that we're apt to say 'Well, he's just a slow learner and we can't expect too much of him. We'll just have to let him work at his own rate and not demand any more than that.'"

Some Overlooked
"The trouble with that theory is that it fails to recognize a child who has good learning ability and who should never be classified as a slow learner in the first place. About 10 per cent of the children in this country who are called slow learners are wrongly classified.

"Maybe he is emotionally disturbed, perhaps from the death of a parent. Maybe he is socially maladjusted because he has a disfiguring scar and the other kids make fun of him. Maybe he has a slight hearing or visual defect that hasn't been noticed. Maybe he is suffering from a brain injury that makes it difficult for him to learn although he has great intelligence.

"All these things can affect a child's learning ability. If we can find his trouble, perhaps we can cure him. We certainly owe it to him to try."

Boy Is Killed On Roller Coaster

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP)—A teen-age boy pitched out of a roller coaster car head-first here Friday night. The car then rolled over the youth, killing him outright.

Gary Seekins, 16, Orchards, Wash., died 50 feet in the air, on a section of elevated track at Jantzen Beach Amusement Park.

Sheriff's Deputy Jim Purcell said the high school student was riding in a front seat, and toppled onto the track as the car began a downward ride.

Spontaneous Buying Bad On Clothing Budget; Use Of Plaids, Weaves Explained

By MRS. HELEN TUNISON
Associate Home Economist

Shopping without a plan is bad for the family clothing budget. Enticing displays tempt the pennies and dollars faster than is wise for the pocketbook.

Make a list of the garments and accessories needed and plan color schemes according to your present wardrobe.

Carefully select accessories to go with the basic dress or suit to extend the life of the garment and bring a fresh touch to the costume. Coordination of the colors, textures, and designs in fabrics or garments bring variety to the wardrobe. One basic suit or dress will fit the requirements of all but the homemaker with a full social schedule.

Take Inventory
A check of scarves, costume jewelry, gloves, hats, and handbags suitable for further wear will show the real need for new seasonal purchases.

If you find after the inventory that it's necessary to make or buy a new dress, carefully select the fabric or garment you buy. Read the label, learn the characteristics of the fabric and what it will do for you if you take good care of it. Check the pattern envelope for the amount of fabric you'll need to make the garment. If you're tempted to buy packaged yard goods, study the label on the package, check the yardage available, then examine the fabric and compare other colors.

Careful With Plaid
Color and more color is in the fashion picture for spring. And, ranking high in popularity, are colorful checks and plaids.

There's a plaid for every personality and figure type—from the small, neat houndstooth check to the big, bold plaid which combines many colors.

Whether you buy ready-made clothes or whether you make your own, choose your plaid garment or fabric carefully. Small, muted checks are best for the petite person. Bigger, bolder plaids look well on tall women with a large frame. When predominant lines of a plaid go across the figure, an impression of width and added weight is given. When predominant color lines run up and down, they seem to add height to the figure.

Choose Simple Design
If you plan to make a plaid suit or dress, choose a simple pattern with few pieces. A simple pattern will let the beauty of the fabric stand out. Extra fabric is needed to match plaids. The larger the plaid, the more fabric is required. The plaid must be woven straight on the grain or you will be in for trouble in cutting and stitching.

Plan where the predominant lines of the plaid will be on the finished garment. Center front and center back are good locations. Predominant lines which are carefully balanced to the right and left of center front and back are fine for the slim figure.

Don't have the outstanding line of a plaid cross the figure at the fullest part of the bustline or hipline. Choose a dark line to center on the belt, and plan for a dark line at the hem edge.

Then lay out the pattern, cut garment pieces, match notches, and stitch carefully. With just a little extra care throughout, the plaid suit or dress you make will be a stunning outfit.

Satin Weaves
Lustrous satin weaves are being featured in bright splashy floral prints.

Sateens are made of cotton fiber woven with long floats in the filling and with the smoothness lying across the fabric. Low-grade sateens are dull and coarse while the higher grade sateens are mercerized to give a lustrous appearance.

Higher grade, long staple cotton fibers are naturally more lustrous and are used in producing high-quality fabrics. Because of the delicacy of some of these fine cotton fibers, the fabric may not be so strong as a high-grade standard sateen. Sateens may be given extra polishing and finishing to give more luster and a soft hand.

Check Labels
Read labels for guarantees of colorfastness, shrink resistance, permanence, drip-dry resin finish and fiber content.

Rich sarahs and foulards are other satin-weave fabrics. A rich luster is given them by long floats woven with a diagonal twill on the surface.

Surah differs from foulard in the weight of the fabric. Foulard is usually lighter, softer, with more delicate hand. The heavier surah is often woven in plaids. Originally made of silk, these fabrics today may be of man-made fibers. Labels must indicate fiber content if fabric is not made of pure silk.

Twill weaves produce strong sturdy fabrics. Most common are the work denims. Denim has a colored warp yarn and a white filling yarn which gives a whitish appearance on the cotton fabric.

Lightweight denims are found in children's colorful play clothes, sportswear and dresses. Medium and heavy weights are used in home furnishings.

Gabardine, a twill weave fabric with a steeper twill than denim, may be wool, cotton, rayon, or a blend of fibers.

OILS AID IN CONTROL OF SCALE, SCAB

To control this year's crop of scales, mite eggs, red bug eggs, and scab in the delayed dormant period, County Agent Frank Zettle offers timely spray formulas in an apple spray information letter recently mailed to growers.

He reports where scales were found on fruit during 1958 or on branches while pruning this year, oil should be used either in the green tip or delayed dormant spray. Oil is more effective against mites and red bugs when used in the delayed dormant period.

"During that period, scab spores are mature and powdery mildew infection may occur on susceptible varieties like Jonathan and Rome. Karathane or sulphur are the most effective materials for mildew control, but these materials should not be used with oil," Zettle said.

Use green tip spray when McIntosh or Stayman show about inch green and complete by the time buds show 1/4 inch green. Zettle recommends the following formulas where scales are a problem only: Miscible superior oil, two gallons in 100 gallons of water or three gallons of oil for a concentrated spray (the dilute spray preferred). Superior oil emulsions at three gallons dilute or four and one-half gallons concentrate may also be used.

Use delayed dormant spray when fruit buds show from 1/2 to 3/4 inch green. The ideal time is when two small flat leaves are present on the blossom buds. Use either of these formulas according to your problems in each 100 gallons of water: Glyodin, 1 1/2 pints, dilute or 3/4 pint concentrate; Tag Fungicide, 1/6 pint dilute or 1/2 pint concentrate.

Where scales are a problem and oil was not applied in the green tip spray use either formula: (Do not apply oil in both sprays). Miscible superior oil, two gallons dilute or three gallons concentrate; Glyodin, one quart dilute or three quarts concentrate. Zettle reminded growers there is no safe combination of oil and fungicide to eradicate scab infection which has occurred before this spray is applied. The 1959 spray schedule may be used for other materials to be used in the delayed dormant period.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Names and salaries of all Senate employees would be published under a resolution introduced by Sen. Wayne Morse (D-Ore).

"I see nothing so special about senators' offices that justifies keeping a veil of secrecy over the salaries we pay," Morse told the Senate Friday.

The move to make payrolls public stems from a series of recent disclosures of nepotism in Congress—the hiring of relatives.

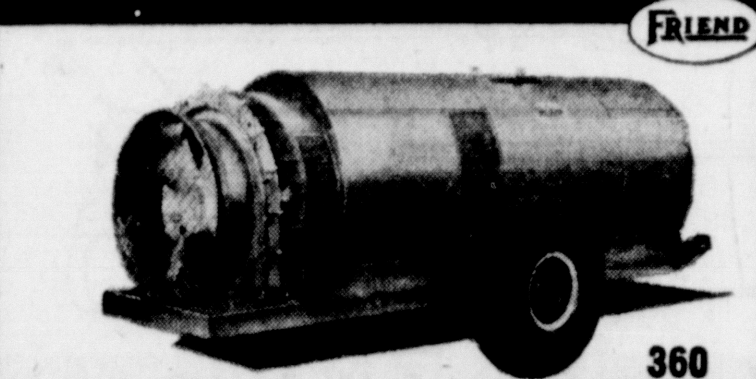

WASHINGTON (AP)—Polio has struck more victims so far this year than it did during the corresponding period in 1958.

The Public Health Service says there were 207 paralytic cases the week of April 4, as against 113 a year ago.

There have been 296 cases of all kinds of polio this year, compared with 205 last year.

diagonal pattern on the fabric's surface and appear to have a smooth, even plain weave on the back. Wool-twill flannels are twilled or diagonally ridged on both sides of the fabric. The flannel has a soft nap brushed up on the surface. An exception is cotton canton flannel, which is napped on the back and twilled on the surface.

Nixon Wants To Meet Fidel Castro

WASHINGTON (AP)—Vice President Richard M. Nixon wants to talk with Fidel Castro, and they may get together during the Cuban leader's visit here next week.

Castro's only scheduled visit with a U.S. government official so far is a luncheon in his honor arranged by Acting Secretary of State Christian Herter.

But reports are circulating here that a meeting between Castro and Nixon is certain. In Florida on vacation recently, Nixon told newsmen he is "looking forward to the opportunity to meet and talk with Fidel Castro."

U. S. WILL WAGE WAR ON CRIME

WASHINGTON (AP)—A special government task force against organized crime, having completed a year-long study of nationwide racketeering, is now moving into the action stage with an expanded staff.

Atty. Gen. William P. Rogers said Friday, "The full weight of federal law enforcement is now being concentrated on syndicated criminal operations." He indicated a sharp increase in prosecutions against racketeers.

Rogers said his special group on organized crime, created last April "has successfully completed its temporary assignment" of coordinating information about top hoodlums from every source.

The group of 18, headed by Milton R. Wessel, a former New York prosecutor, now will be integrated into federal district attorneys' offices in New York, Chicago, Los Angeles and Miami, Rogers said.

HALUSKA CAN'T RUN FOR BENCH

HARRISBURG (AP)—John J. Haluska, his bid to run for a Cambria County judgeship denied by Dauphin County Court, made plans instead today to seek another term in the State Senate.

The court ruled Friday that a person aspiring for a judgeship must be learned in the law.

The decision upheld the State Elections Bureau which refused to accept nomination petitions for Haluska for the May 19 primary election. Haluska had planned to seek the judgeship on both the Democratic and Republican tickets.

Judge Karl E. Richards, in handing down the opinion, reminded Haluska that he could appeal to a higher court.

However, Haluska said he would not appeal the ruling, adding: "I am happy that I can run for the State Senate where I can help make laws without being an attorney."

Ike Will Attend Taft Dedication

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP)—President Eisenhower plans to resume his vacation here immediately after keeping two Washington engagements early next week.

Eisenhower told visiting Republican leaders at the Augusta National Golf Club Friday that he'll go to Washington Monday afternoon and return here the next afternoon.

The President's two Washington engagements are a speech Monday night at a Republican Women's dinner, and taking part Tuesday morning in dedication of a Bell tower at the capitol to the late GOP Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio.

Eisenhower didn't say how long he would remain in Augusta after returning. But the guessing is until a week from Sunday.

SNOW, COLD, RAIN SWEEP MANY AREAS

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Near-freezing temperatures, rain or snow gripped most of the nation today.

An irritating cold enveloped the midcontinent and rain harassed the East as the third week of spring ended.

Fresh snow on the heels of a midweek storm that smacked the Rockies, cast a thin blanket over parts of the Plains and the upper Mississippi Valley.

Only the Far West enjoyed fair

Rain and drizzle prevailed from the Great Lakes into the Northeast and middle Atlantic region. It also dipped to the Gulf Coast.

Most notable rain was 42 inches during a 6-hour period at Washington, D.C. and Pensacola, Fla. More snow fell in Wyoming and Colorado and as far south as Dallas, Texas. Denver recorded an inch early today as did Lemmon, S.D.

Heaviest snow was at least 4 inches at Redwood Falls, Minn. Duluth, Minn., measured 2 inches Friday.

MARTIN ASKS MORE GASTAX

HARRISBURG (AP)—Highways Secretary Park Martin today pinned hopes for a speedier interstate road-building program on legislative approval of a higher gasoline tax.

Martin said interstate projects could be speeded up considerably if the state obtains more funds to finance the multimillion dollar highway program.

"You can't work without money," he told a delegation from the Anthracite Expressway Assn. Friday.

Martin said construction of a 30-mile section of the proposed expressway between Harrisburg and Scranton could start in 1961-63 if more road revenue is obtained.

The expressway was omitted entirely in a five-year priority issued last January by former highways secretary Lewis M. Stevens who based his figures on existing revenue estimates and traffic counts.

Martin has asked the 1959 Legislature to increase the five-cent-a-gallon gasoline tax to six cents, the cost of auto tags from $10 to $15 and the fee for operators' licenses from $1 to $3. It would raise 59 1/2 million dollars in the next two-year fiscal period starting June 1.

Canada had an estimated population of 17,048,000 on June 1, 1958. Montreal is the largest city with a population of 1,109,439.

Measles Epidemic Hits Philadelphia

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—A severe outbreak of measles has hit Philadelphia, the City Health Department reports. One death has been attributed to the disease.

So far, 2,659 cases have been reported. The health department said Friday the outbreak was approaching epidemic proportions, but cautioned against alarm.

Measles runs in cycles and there is no immunization, so little can be done about it, the department said.

James MARLOW Reports

The Associated Press

Associated Press News Analyst WASHINGTON (AP)—What do you, the man in the street, have to look forward to on a question which may mean your life: This country's ability to handle itself in case of a Soviet attack or desire to attack?

A good part of that answer has come in pieces and bits over these past few weeks from American military leaders and key men in the Eisenhower administration, either in testimony before Congress or in speeches.

The latest view of present and future has come from a man whose own knowledge of American and Soviet strength is a basic element in shaping the thinking of the government: Allen W. Dulles.

Heads Spy Agency

Dulles, brother of Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, is director of the Central Intelligence Agency, which is this country's super-spy agency overseas. He gave some of his thinking in a speech in New Orleans this week.

Since it coincides with testimony given Congress by the military leaders in large part, it can be summarized here as the attitude of the Eisenhower administration toward the Soviet Union, present and future.

The Soviets do not now have military superiority over the United States and are not likely to provoke war "at this time."

U. S. Has Power

The reason is they know this country has the power, through long-range bombers and nuclear bombs, to retaliate with such terrible devastation that it would not be sensible to start a war which would cause the U.S.S.R. such damage.

In short, Dulles said: "I consider that our military posture is stronger and our ability to inflict damage is today greater than that of the Soviet Union."

Dulles was thus reflecting what seems to be a great self-confidence—about the present, that is—which seems to permeate the top military leaders of the country.

Long Range Missiles

But this doesn't necessarily mean that even if the United States should stay ahead of the Soviets militarily—and that's questionable—that the Soviet Union will not be able to move step by step to gobble up the world. Why?

Because they are putting their greatest emphasis on long-range missiles which could reach not only any part of Europe or Asia but the United States, too.

Just assume that in 10 years both the United States and the Soviet Union have all the long-range missiles they need. Does that mean the two sides just glare at each other, with both afraid to move?

May Be Red Advantage

Actually—and this is interpreting what has been said—such a

Centennial Plans In Md. Advanced

Governor Tawes Wednesday signed a joint General Assembly resolution requesting appointment of a Maryland Civil War Centennial Commission to arrange plans for the centennial of the Battle of Antietam and other battles of the Civil War.

The commission will report back to the General Assembly at its session next year with recommendations regarding the observance of the centennial, scheduled to start in 1960. That is expected to be followed by the appointment of a permanent commission and possibly selection of a centennial headquarters.

Frederick has been advanced as a logical site for any centennial headquarters because of its proximity to major battlefields of the Civil War and its own war history.

American Faces Trial For Murder

HAVANA (AP)—Alan Robert Nye of Whiting, Ind., was formally charged Thursday night with trying to assassinate Cuban premier Fidel Castro. He goes on trial Saturday night at La Cabana military fortress in Havana.

Castro's revolutionary government claims the 31-year-old former U. S. Navy pilot and Korean War veteran came to Cuba to kill Castro for $100,000. The money allegedly was offered by supporters of former President Fulgencio Batista, in exile since Jan. 1.

Nye denies the charge, claiming he came to Cuba last November to fight with Castro's rebels.

Malemate in terror weapons may work to Soviet advantage. Without starting war, the Soviets may try conquest by subversion, infiltration, economic help and other means.

If they so move—without provoking war—would the United States start a war over nonmilitary Soviet aggression?

It hardly seems likely, if only because once the United States tried shooting missiles the Soviets with the same kind of long-range weapons could make us sorry we started, just as we could make them sorry now.

Have Others Plans

So there may be years of so-called peace which is not peace. Dulles himself doesn't think Premier Nikita Khrushchev wants war.

He said: Khrushchev "is convinced that the final victory of communism can be achieved mainly by nonmilitary means. Here the Soviet economic offensive looms large."

To sum up: The leaders don't look for war now or anytime soon. Yet no one is predicting the Soviets won't inch their way around the world by other means.

NO COUGHING, PLEASE

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—Conductor George Szell halted a performance by the Cleveland Orchestra Thursday night after several persons in the audience had coughed.

"I'll give you five minutes to clear your throats," Szell said and he walked from the stage. He returned a few minutes later.

ALLENBERRY OPENS APRIL 25

Richard North Gage, managing director of Allenberry Playhouse, Boiling Springs, has returned from two weeks of casting in New York City, and will begin rehearsals April 18, for "Philadelphia Story," the opening play of the season. The comedy about the denizens of Philadelphia's Main Line will hit the Allenberry boards Saturday evening, April 25, and will run for two weeks. It will be followed by another comedy, "The Tunnel Of Love." The season, the longest in this part of Pennsylvania, will consist of 28 weeks of comedy and drama, plus four weeks of musical comedy. Gage has engaged 20 new actors for the Allenberry company. Among those returning for the 1959 season are Virginia Donaldson, Reginald Rowland Jr. and Katherine Lurker, all three members of the acting company last season.

BOSTON (AP)—U. S. Judge George C. Sweeney Friday dismissed a plea of Annis Vautier, of Pelham, N.H., for a federal court order to free him from jail for nonpayment of a $4,460 Massachusetts state income tax bill. Judge Sweeney said he had to dismiss Vautier's petition for a writ of habeas corpus because the New Hampshire man had not exhausted his rights in the Massachusetts state courts.

WHEN AGE PAYS

MANGUM, Okla. (AP)—When car license payments are due Joe Head is glad he drives a 1924 model Dodge. His 1959 license tag cost him only $1.50.

Salvaged Bomb Explodes, Kills 34

MANILA (AP)—A 500-pound salvaged bomb exploded in a central Luzon fishing village Friday, and the Philippine News Service said at least 34 persons had been killed and many others injured.

The report said most of the dead were children between 3 and 12 years old.

The news service said fishermen had taken the bomb from a sunken ship in Lingayen Bay and were taking it apart to use the explosive in fishing. Many of those killed were standing around, watching the operation.

The explosion occurred near Dagupan, in Pangasinan Province. The report said that of 34 verified dead, only 12 were recognizable.

HARRISBURG (P)—Dauphin County Court Friday ruled that only persons "learned in the law" have the right to seek election to a judgeship in Pennsylvania.

The court gave the ruling in rejecting a petition by John J. Hala, former state senator, to have his name included on the May 19 primary ballot as a candidate for the Republican and Democratic nomination to a Cambria County judgeship.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Former Rep. Brooks Hays (D-Ark.) called Friday for a House investigation of whether his defeat in last fall's election by Rep. Dale Alford (D-Ark.) was due to voting frauds.

Alford ran as a write-in segregationist candidate. Hays, the Democratic nominee and a veteran of 16 years in the House, called himself a moderate on the segregation issue.

FIVE COVERED WAGONS OFF ON OREGON TRAIL

PORTLAND, Ore.—A group of "Space Age" pioneers in five covered wagons, who undoubtedly will be more concerned with the hazards of modern highway traffic than the possibility of attack by hostile Indians, took off today on a 2,000-mile crossing on the old Oregon trail.

The 130-day journey will be from Independence, Mo., to Independence, Oregon. It will focus attention on Oregon's current year-long Centennial celebration.

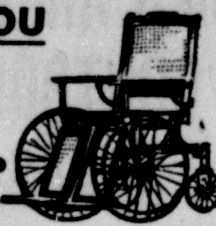

At Independence, Mo., "jumping off place" for the intrepid men and women who first made the perilous journey across the continent to settle Oregon, elaborate dedicatory ceremonies were held for the 1959 wagon train.

Government officials, movie stars and other celebrities participated. Dick Smith of Roseburg, Oregon, president of On To Oregon Cavalcade, Inc., sponsor of the trail crossing expedition announced that Gordon (Tex.) Serpa, Ashland, Oregon, rancher and movie stunt rider, had been named wagon master. As the "Ward Bond or Oregon," Serpa leads 30 other Oregonians along the asphalt trail.

Some Modern Additions

According to Smith, the covered wagons which Serpa will guide westward are duplicates of the vehicles used in the initial crossing on the Oregon trail. They were built in Eugene, Ore.

ARE YOU SAFE FROM POLIO?

Polio isn't licked yet! Millions of Americans still don't have their shots. How about your family? Paralytic polio cases actually increased last year among those not vaccinated. Get your shots NOW! See your doctor or health department.

DON'T TAKE A CHANCE—TAKE YOUR POLIO SHOTS

Published as a public service in cooperation with The Advertising Council

The wagon train has some modern additions including a 35-foot semitrailer to carry hay. A two-ton flatbed truck will be used to transport water. Many Oregon business organizations are donating food and other supplies.

Smith said the wagon train will follow the course of the Oregon Trail through Kansas, Nebraska, Wyoming, Idaho and Oregon. "It is expected the train will travel about 20 miles a day," he added. "We also expect to create a great deal of interest in Centennial celebrations in Oregon and induce many persons along the way to follow our trail to the Beaver state."

FATAL EXPLOSION

SALVADOR, Brazil (AP)—An explosion of a cargo of inflammable asphalt destroyed the Brazilian freighter Urubatan and killed four crew members in the port of Ilheus Friday.

The 632-ton vessel was quickly enveloped in flames, and fire fighters were unable to check them. The position of the hulk threatened to block navigation at Ilheus, a shipping point for much of Brazil's cacao. Ilheus is about 125 miles south of Salvador.

NEW YORK (AP)—David Campanella, 15-year-old stepson of famed catcher Roy Campanella, was placed on probation Friday for breaking into a Queens drug store last February.

Domestic Relations Court Judge Sylvia Liese said the youth will have to attend a guidance clinic under probation supervision.

Mountain Slide Crushes Village

SDECAZEVILLE, France (AP)—A mountain slide, edging forward at the rate of four inches a minute, is crushing a small village near here.

About a million cubic yards of earth and rock already have tumbled into the village of Lestang in Southern France, crushing half a dozen homes, damming a river and covering a main road with several feet of earth. All 60 inhabitants of Lestang, mostly coal miners, have been evacuated.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Card of Thanks

SPENCE: I wish to express my sincere gratitude and appreciation to my family, relatives, and friends, for their many cards, flowers, and visits given me during my illness at the Harrisburg Hospital.

AURELIA J. SPENCE

In Memoriam

In memory of my sister, Abbie Baker, who passed away 9 years ago, April 10.

I often look at your photograph. You are smiling and seem to say, "Don't grieve for me, I'm only resting. For we will meet again some day. When all our grief and pains are over. And the clouds have rolled away."

Sadly missed by sister, MRS. LOVINIA STRICKHOUSER

Florists

James MARLOW Reports

The Associated Press

Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP)—What do you, the man in the street, have to look forward to on a question which may mean your life: This country's ability to handle itself in case of a Soviet attack or desire to attack?

A good part of that answer has come in pieces and bits over these past few weeks from American military leaders and key men in the Eisenhower administration, either in testimony before Congress or in speeches.

The latest view of present and future has come from a man whose own knowledge of American and Soviet strength is a basic element in shaping the thinking of the government: Allen W. Dulles.

Heads Spy Agency

Dulles, brother of Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, is director of the Central Intelligence Agency, which is this country's super-spy agency overseas. He gave some of his thinking in a speech in New Orleans this week. Since it coincides with testimony given Congress by the military leaders in large part, it can be summarized here as the attitude of the Eisenhower administration toward the Soviet Union, present and future.

The Soviets do not now have military superiority over the United States and are not likely to provoke war "at this time."

U. S. Has Power

The reason is they know this country has the power, through long-range bombers and nuclear bombs, to retaliate with such terrible devastation that it would not be sensible to start a war which would cause the U.S.S.R. such damage.

In short, Dulles said: "I consider that our military posture is stronger and our ability to inflict damage is today greater than that of the Soviet Union."

Dulles was thus reflecting what seems to be a great self-confidence about the present, that is—which seems to permeate the top military leaders of the country.

Long Range Missiles

But this doesn't necessarily mean that even if the United States should stay ahead of the Soviets militarily — and that's questionable — that the Soviet Union will not be able to move step by step to gobble up the world. Why?

Because they are putting their greatest emphasis on long-range missiles which could reach not only any part of Europe or Asia but the United States, too.

Just assume that in 10 years both the United States and the Soviet Union have all the long-range missiles they need. Does that mean the two sides just glare at each other, with both afraid to move?

May Be Red Advantage

Actually — and this is interpreted what has been said — such a

Centennial Plans In Md. Advanced

Governor Tawes Wednesday signed a joint General Assembly resolution requesting appointment of a Maryland Civil War Centennial Commission to arrange plans for the centennial of the Battle of Antietam and other battles of the Civil War.

The commission will report back to the General Assembly at its session next year with recommendations regarding the observance of the centennial, scheduled to start in 1963. That is expected to be followed by the appointment of a permanent commission and possibly selection of a centennial headquarters.

Frederick has been advanced as a logical site for any centennial headquarters because of its proximity to major battlefields of the Civil War and its own war history.

American Faces Trial For Murder

HAVANA (AP) — Alan Robert Nye of Whiting, Ind., was formally charged Thursday night with trying to assassinate Cuban premier Fidel Castro. He goes on trial Saturday night at La Cabana military fortress in Havana.

Castro's revolutionary government claims the 31-year-old former U. S. Navy pilot and Korean War veteran came to Cuba to kill Castro for $100,000. The money allegedly was offered by supporters of former President Fulbright Batista, in exile since Jan. 1.

Nye denies the charge, claiming he came to Cuba last November to fight with Castro's rebels.

Stalemate in terror weapons may work to Soviet advantage. Without starting war, the Soviets may try conquest by subversion, infiltration, economic help and other means.

If they so move — without provoking war — would the United States start a war over nonmilitary Soviet aggression? It hardly seems likely, if only because once the United States tried shooting missiles the Soviets with the same kind of long-range weapons could make us sorry we started, just as we could make them sorry now.

Have Others Plans

So there may be years of so-called peace which is not peace. Dulles himself doesn't think Premier Nikita Khrushchev wants war.

He said: Khrushchev "is convinced that the final victory of communism can be achieved mainly by nonmilitary means. Here the Soviet economic offensive looms large."

To sum up: The leaders don't look for war now or anytime soon. Yet no one is predicting the Soviets won't inch their way around the world by other means.

NO COUGHING, PLEASE

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—Conductor George Szell halted a performance by the Cleveland Orchestra Thursday night after several persons in the audience had coughed.

"I'll give you five minutes to clear your throats," Szell said and he walked from the stage. He returned a few minutes later.

ALLENBERRY OPENS APRIL 25

Richard North Gage, managing director of Allenberry Playhouse, Boiling Springs, has returned from two weeks of casting in New York City, and will begin rehearsals April 18, for "Philadelphia Story," the opening play of the season. The comedy about the denizens of Philadelphia's Main Line will hit the Allenberry boards Saturday evening, April 25, and will run for two weeks. It will be followed by another comedy, "The Tunnel Of Love." The season, the longest in this part of Pennsylvania, will consist of 28 weeks of comedy and drama, plus four weeks of musical comedy. Gage has engaged 20 new actors for the Allenberry company. Among those returning for the 1959 season are Virginia Donaldson, Reginald Rowland Jr. and Katherine Lurker, all three members of the acting company last season.

BOSTON (AP) — U. S. Judge George C. Sweeney Friday dismissed a plea of Annis Vautier, of Pelham, N. H., for a federal court order to free him from jail for nonpayment of a $46.80 Massachusetts state income tax bill. Judge Sweeney said he had to dismiss Vautier's petition for a writ of habeas corpus because the New Hampshire man had not exhausted his rights in the Massachusetts state courts.

Salvaged Bomb Explodes, Kills 34

MANILA (AP)—A 500-pound salvaged bomb exploded in a central Luzon fishing village Friday, and the Philippine News Service said at least 34 persons had been killed and many others injured.

The report said most of the dead were children between 3 and 12 years old.

The news service said fishermen had taken the bomb from a sunken ship in Lingayen Bay and were taking it apart to use the explosive in fishing. Many of those killed were standing around, watching the operation.

The explosion occurred near Dagupan, in Pangasinan Province. The report said that of 34 verified dead, only 12 were recognizable.

HARRISBURG (P) — Dauphin County Court Friday ruled that only persons "learned in the law" have the right to seek election to a judgeship in Pennsylvania.

The court gave the ruling in rejecting a petition by John J. Haluska, former state senator, to have his name included on the May 19 primary ballot as a candidate for the Republican and Democratic nomination to a Cambria County judgeship.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former Rep. Brooks Hays (D-Ark.) called Friday for a House investigation of whether his defeat in last fall's election by Rep. Dale Alford (D-Ark.) was due to voting frauds. Alford ran as a write-in segregationist candidate. Hays, the Democratic nominee and a veteran of 16 years in the House, called himself a moderate on the segregation issue.

FIVE COVERED WAGONS OFF ON OREGON TRAIL

PORTLAND, Ore.—A group of "Space Age" pioneers in five covered wagons, who undoubtedly will be more concerned with the hazards of modern highway traffic than the possibility of attack by hostile Indians, took off today on a 2,000-mile crossing on the old Oregon trail.

The 139-day journey will be from Independence, Mo., to Independence, Oregon. It will focus attention on Oregon's current year-long Centennial celebration.

At Independence, Mo., "jumping off place" for the intrepid men and women who first made the perilous journey across the continent to settle Oregon, elaborate dedicatory ceremonies were held for the 1959 wagon train. Government officials, movie stars and other celebrities participated. Dick Smith of Roseburg, Oregon, president of On To Oregon Cavalcade, Inc., sponsor of the trail crossing expedition announced that Gordon (Tex.) Serpa, Ashland, Oregon, rancher and movie stunt rider, had been named wagon master. As the "Ward Bond or Oregon," Serpa leads 30 other Oregonians along the asphalt trail.

Some Modern Additions
According to Smith, the covered wagons which Serpa will guide westward are duplicates of the vehicles used in the initial crossing on the Oregon trail. They were built in Eugene, Ore.

The wagon train has some modern additions including a 35-foot semitrailer to carry hay. A two-ton flatbed truck will be used to transport water. Many Oregon business organizations are donating food and other supplies. Smith said the wagon train will follow the course of the Oregon Trail through Kansas, Nebraska, Wyoming, Idaho and Oregon. "It is expected the train will travel about 20 miles a day," he added. "We also expect to create a great deal of interest in Centennial celebrations in Oregon and induce many persons along the way to follow our trail to the Beaver state."

FATAL EXPLOSION
SALVADOR, Brazil (AP) — An explosion of a cargo of inflammable asphalt destroyed the Brazilian freighter Urubatan and killed four crew members in the port of Ilheus Friday.

The 632-ton vessel was quickly enveloped in flames, and fire fighters were unable to check them. The position of the hulk threatened to block navigation at Ilheus, a shipping point for much of Brazil's cacao. Ilheus is about 125 miles south of Salvador.

NEW YORK (AP)—David Campanella, 15-year-old stepson of famed catcher Roy Campanella, was placed on probation Friday for an indefinite period of years for breaking into a Queens drug store last February.

Domestic Relations Court Judge Sylvia Liese said the youth will have to attend a guidance clinic under probation supervision.

Mountain Slide Crushes Village

SDECAZEVILLE, France (AP) — A mountain slide, edging forward at the rate of four inches a minute, is crushing a small village near here.

About a million cubic yards of earth and rock already have tumbled into the village of Lestang in Southern France, crushing half a dozen homes, damming a river and covering a main road with several feet of earth. All 60 inhabitants of Lestang, mostly coal miners, have been evacuated.

MEAN CIRCUS ELEPHANT WILL BE EXECUTED

HUGO, Okla. (AP) — Dorothy the doomed circus elephant will give her last performance Sunday. She is to be executed before scores of curious onlookers.

Officials of the Carson and Barnes Circus say Dorothy is too dangerous to live. She has killed one trainer and injured another by crushing them under her head.

Last November near Port Arthur, Tex., she killed James Lloyd, 28, of New York, a trainer with Hagen Bros. Circus. Then two weeks ago she flipped over on Richard Shipley, elephant superintendent for Carson and Barnes.

Dorothy's specialty is a headstand on a barrel. She has performed before countless thousands in circus tents across the nation.

This talent was turned on Lloyd and Shipley.

Sold For $5,000

After Dorothy did the headstand on Lloyd in Texas, she was sold to Carson and Barnes for $5,000. Joe Sullivan, circus spokesman, said his firm hoped to rehabilitate Dorothy and put her back in the ring. For three months the big 25-year-old beast behaved, he said.

Then two weeks ago she turned on Shipley at the circus' winter quarters here.

Dorothy went into a nosedive, pinning the trainer.

Sullivan said the latest attack convinced the circus that Dorothy cannot be rehabilitated.

State highway patrolman Ed Vandergriff agreed to kill Dorothy with a deer rifle. Circus officials said the execution will be open to the public.

Churchill Will Visit Eisenhower

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — Sir Winston Churchill will be President Eisenhower's guest in Washington for three days starting May 5.

Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said Churchill, a personal friend of Eisenhower since World War II days, will go to the White House for the three-day visit. He plans to spend the night of May 7 at the embassy.

Anti-Red Chinese Fight Commies In Tibetan Feud

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
TOKYO (AP) — Red China disclosed today that anti-Communist Chinese were fighting beside Tibetan rebels and admitted the revolt was still seething in the Himalayan kingdom.

Peiping Radio claimed only that the uprising had been crushed in the area of Lhasa, the Tibetan capital, and said Red troops were "now proceeding successfully to put down the armed rebellion in other places."

The Chinese Nationalist government on Formosa said about 100,000 Tibetan nomads—sword-wielding Goloks—had joined the revolt in the north.

Quantity Of Arms
The Peiping broadcast said the large quantity of arms seized in fighting the Tibetan rebels proved that they were helped by anti-Communist Chinese still fighting in the old Sikang province of China.

Sikang borders Tibet in the southwest along the Yangtze River—a wild, mountainous region which ranges sharply up to 24,900 feet and separated by canyon-like gorges.

The disclosure that the Sikang rebels—possibly remnants of Chiang Kai-shek's army on the mainland—were taking part in the Tibetan rebellion came in a report to the Chinese Communist Central Committee.

12 SENTENCES HANDLED DOWN IN COURT TODAY

Thomas E. Smith, 47, New Oxford septic tank cleaner, was sentenced to from 18 to 36 months in the Allegheny County Workhouse by the Adams County Court today on charges of corrupting the morals of a minor, indecent assault and contributing to delinquency.

Smith appeared before the court for sentence on the charges after having been removed to the Harrisburg State Hospital on his first appearance before the court last fall. Examination there disclosed no mental troubles and he was returned here for sentence.

A neighbor, Mrs. Moore, of New Oxford, told the court that Smith had discharged a firearm from a window of his home over the head of her children, that he had slapped her children several times and that she frequently had to give Mrs. Smith asylum when she fled the Smith home, when her husband shot at her.

Sentenced After Jail Fight

Charles L. Steward, 24, Arendtsville, was sentenced to from 11 to 23 months in the Allegheny County Jail on a charge of aggravated assault and battery brought by Sheriff Dawson R. Miller. He was also ordered to pay the costs and pay for the treatment for a fellow prisoner whom he "cut up" in a jail cell argument over the dice in a monopoly game. Steward said the other prisoner "came around demanding the dice and telling me what he was going to do to me and threatening to throw me over the rail of the second floor cell block and I cut him with a razor blade I'd found in a magazine."

William A. Weikert, Oxford Hotel, New Oxford, was sentenced to 30 days in jail starting March 15, and ordered to pay a $50 fine and the costs on a charge of driving while under the influence.

John H. Bowling, 28, Fourth St., was sentenced to 30 days in jail and ordered to pay $50 for the use of the county and the costs on a charge of driving while under the influence.

Md. Driver Sentenced

Bowling told the court he had had a few drinks and, driving home, became aware that his condition was worsening and attempted to pull off the road and park. State police said he was halted on a 45 degree angle across the road, stopping both lanes of traffic and was sound asleep when police reached his car.

Henry B. Eckenrode, Rocky Ridge, Md., charged with driving while under the influence, was also sentenced to 30 days in jail and ordered to pay $50 for the use of the county and the costs.

Elwood Lee Macklin Jr., 21, of Topeka, Kansas, who said he stole a car at Bedford because he was "tired of hitch hiking," was sentenced to 60 days in jail on a larceny charge involving the removal of a coin box from a soft drink dispensing machine at the Lamont Kane station on the Lincoln Highway west of here. A detainer is lodged against him from Bedford on the car theft.

60 Days For Prowler

Clair B. Warner, Hanover R. 1, who told the court in response to a question, that he still wonders why he was window peaking, was sentenced to from 60 days to six months in the Adams County jail starting March 27 and ordered to pay the costs on a charge of loitering and prowling.

Herbert L. Baker, Fayetteville R. 2, was sentenced to 60 days in jail and ordered to pay the costs on a charge of assault by automobile. A jury had found his guilty of ramming another car with his own vehicle. This morning Baker still insisted he did not drive a car, knew nothing about a pistol that was supposedly waved about, and that he was in Waynesboro, many miles away, at the time of the alleged incident.

Roy L. Wise, 48, Lebanon, charged with driving while under the influence - police said they found him in that condition in the driveway at the police station - was sentenced to 30 days in jail and ordered to pay $150 for the use of the county and the costs.

Gets 90 Days

Durward Cecil Corvin, Wytheville, Va., was given 90 days in jail starting April 1 and ordered to pay the costs on a charge of malicious mischief. State police said Corvin broke into the Eastern States building near Biglerville and then as he left his car became mired in the mud and he was stuck there until discovered. Corvin was released.

Window Displays For Library Week

Four window displays have been placed in Gettysburg by the Adams County Free Library in observance of National Library Week and there is also a special display at the main library on E. High St.

The window displays on books and library service have been placed at the AAA office and the Bikle insurance office windows in Lincoln Square; in the Jack and Jill Shop on Chambersburg St., and the Hi-Fi Center on Baltimore St.

At the main library is a display of photographs made several weeks ago when the county library's bookmobile was taken to the Major John Eisenhower home and was inspected by Major Eisenhower and several of his children. The Eisenhower home was once a bookmobile stop when it was Pitzer's Schoolhouse.

Special bookmobiles also are being handed out this week at the main library.

ASTRONOMER WILL SPEAK AT COLLEGE

Dr. Paul W. Merrill, astronomer at Mount Wilson and Palomar observatories since 1919, will give an illustrated lecture on "From Atoms to Galaxies" at 11:15 a.m. Friday in Christ Chapel at Gettysburg College. It was announced today by Dr. Richard T. Mara, professor of physics.

Dr. Merrill will also discuss "Adventures of a Starbeam" and "Modern Astrophysics" in room 311, Science Hall, Thursday at 4 and 8 p.m. The three talks were arranged by the college physics department through the American Astronomical Society's program of visiting professors. They are open to the public.

Prominent in Research

The astronomer's special research fields are wave lengths of spectrum lines, red and infrared photography and stellar spectroscopy. Author of "The Nature of Variable Stars" and "Spectra of Long-Period Variable Stars," he has held posts at Lick Observatory and the University of Michigan.

He was a National Bureau of Standards physicist during World War I.

A member of the National Academy of Sciences, he was awarded the Henry Draper medal in 1946. He was president of the American Astronomical Society 1953-54 and holds membership in the Philosophical Society, the Physical Society and the Royal Astronomical Society.

BULLETINS

HARRISBURG (AP) — Gov. Lawrence today agreed to a compromise on his stalled 3 1/2 per cent sales tax proposal in an effort to win final legislative approval of the plan, possibly by the end of the week.

The compromise would remove proposals to extend the tax to auto trade-ins and sales of alcoholic beverages over the bar. As amended it would boost the tax from the present 3 per cent to 3 1/2 per cent.

HARRISBURG (AP) — Dauphin County Court today upheld the legality of a legislative committee probing a Knox Coal Co. mine disaster which still has 12 men trapped.

Acting President Judge William H. Neely said the court found no evidence that the 10-member committee was illegally formed by a resolution rather than a law.

BOY CAUGHT HERE

Robert Fox, 15-year-old Baltimore youth, was picked up by borough police on Lincoln Square Sunday evening at 5:45 o'clock and placed in detention at the county jail to await his return to the Parkville, Md., Training School. Fox and seven other boys escaped from the Maryland institution Saturday night. When found here he had seven boxes of frozen fish which he told police he had secured from an ice box and seven bars of soap which he said he had picked up on the street.

SEEKS DIVORCE

Joan A. (Ripka) Dombrowski, Littlestown R. 1, is seeking a divorce from Walter J. Dombrowski, Grand Rapids, Mich., on grounds of cruel and barbarous treatment according to a complaint in divorce filed with the prothonotary's office for Mrs. Dombrowski by Attorney H. Thomas Pyle. The couple wed February 17, 1950, at Emmitsburg.

INFANT EXPIRES

A son born Saturday morning at the Warner Hospital to Mr. and Mrs. Charles Eyer Jr., Rocky Ridge R. 1, Md., died Saturday evening.

$2,300 DAMAGE, THREE INJURED IN 2 MISHAPS

Three persons were injured and damage totaled $2,300 in two automobile accidents investigated by state police over the weekend.

Saturday night at 11:15 o'clock an auto and truck collided four miles north of here on the Biglerville Rd.,

State police said Bertram Beamer, 45, Aspers R. 1, was operating a truck north and Frederick F. Graeff, 32, of 231 Hanover St., was driving a car south when, according to police, Beamer's vehicle crossed the center of the highway and the two vehicles collided.

Damage was estimated at $1,200 to Graeff's car and $300 to Beamer's truck. No one was reported injured. Police are continuing their investigation.

The other accident occurred at 4:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon two miles south of Dillsburg on the Harrisburg Rd.

Chain of Crashes

According to state police three cars were driving north. Maurice H. Johnston, 19, of the Naval Supply Depot, Oceana, Va., stopped his car for traffic ahead. Alfred M. Delp, 43, Kearsburg, following Johnston, slowed his car preparatory to stopping. Mrs. Jessie M. Carter, 46, following Delp, was unable to slow her car quickly enough and it ran into the rear of the Delp auto forcing it into the rear of the Johnston car. Damage totaled $400 to the Carter car, $220 to Delp's vehicle and $200 to Johnston's auto.

Mrs. Carter suffered lacerations of both knees and some loosened teeth. Her husband, Harvey Carter, aged 50, had several lacerations. A passenger in the Johnston car, Jack Hiscok, 19, of Naval Supply Depot, Oceana, Va., suffered bruises of the forehead. The injured were removed to the Harrisburg Hospital by ambulance for treatment there.

LITTLE ROUND TOP IS CLEANED BY PHI DELTS

Sixty-two members of the Gettysburg College chapter of the Phi Delta Theta fraternity have completed, in more than 155 hours, the clean-up of the western slope of Little Round Top on the Battlefield which had become overgrown with brush and trees.

The job was done as the chapter's third annual community service project.

The undergrowth had been cut some time ago by National Park maintenance crews but had not been removed because of lack of available manpower. Park Superintendent James B. Myers explained that the clearing had been done in line with the service's policy of trying to keep the Battlefield area as nearly like it was in 1863 as possible. "We had no choice," he said, "but to leave this debris where it fell. In five years or so most of it would have rotted, but it would have continued to be an eyesore, marring the beauty of that portion of the field."

Myers said but "thanks to this project, Little Round Top is again one of the most beautiful scenes on the Battlefield."

To Burn Brush

Plans were to burn the accumulated brush Saturday but the weather interfered. It is expected that it can be burned early this week.

Myers said that an area of from eight to ten acres had been cleaned. "It was a sizeable job these fellows did," he said. The slope is strewn with large boulders so that it is not possible to use power equipment to keep down the brush growth. The superintendent said that having the area cleared now should make it possible for park employees to keep down new growth with chemical control materials.

Unlike Big Round Top, Little Round Top was not wooded in 1863 at the time of the Battle of Gettysburg. Records indicate that it had been cut over in 1862.

President Visits Dulles In Hospital At Noon; See Early Decision On Dulles Future

By JOHN SCALI
WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower visited ailing Secretary of State John Foster Dulles at Walter Reed Army Hospital today. An early decision appeared probable on how long Dulles will remain in the Cabinet.

Eisenhower went directly to the hospital after arriving by plane from Augusta, Ga., where he has been on a golfing vacation.

Allen W. Dulles, head of the Central Intelligence Agency and brother of the secretary of state, arrived at Walter Reed five minutes after the President.

Aides There

Already with Dulles were his State Department aide, Joseph N. Greene, and his secretary, Phyllis Bernau. They had gone to the hospital earlier in the morning.

Among other things, they brought with them an electric typewriter. Eisenhower grinned at newsmen and photographers as he stepped out of his limousine at the end of the 30-minute drive from the airport to the hospital.

"How'd all these photographers get up here?" he asked. Then to Maj. Gen. Leonard Heaton, the hospital commandant, and waiting hospital aides, he added:

"How did you get out here?"

Eisenhower was accompanied by his chief aide, Wilton B. Parsons, Press Secretary James C. Hagerty and Maj. Gen. Howard Snyder, the President's personal physician.

Dulles Came Sunday

Eisenhower had already arranged for a 24-hour return to Washington before Dulles flew back from Florida to re-enter the hospital.

The 71-year-old secretary, a world-renowned figure in diplomatic battles against the Soviet Union for six years, re-entered the hospital Sunday afternoon.

Looking haggard and considerably underweight, Dulles cut short his Florida rest stay to undergo a new head to toe check-up to determine what could be done to arrest the cancer.

Many of his worried aides glumly reported that barring a medical miracle Dulles probably would have to lay aside the foreign policy chores he loves so dearly.

The President was reported still hopeful that Dulles could serve as special adviser, at least, during the Big Four foreign ministers' conference on Germany. This is to open in Geneva May 11.

Feels "Pretty Good"

"I feel pretty good," Dulles told newsmen at the airport as he walked slowly down the ramp from the President's plane.

Allies Seek Suspension Of Nuclear Tests Near Earth

By TOM OCHILTREE
GENEVA (AP) — The United States and Britain asked the Soviet Union today to agree to a prompt controlled suspension of nuclear weapons tests on or near the surface of the earth—leaving the problem of other types of blasts for later negotiations.

Informants said the proposal provided for suspending the test suspension problem. It was advanced as the three-power talks resumed after an Easter recess.

First Soviet reaction was reported to be negative.

Under the new Western plan, agreement would be reached at once on banning surface and atomic nuclear tests — the ones which cause dangerous radioactive fallout.

Other Tests Open

Such an agreement would not cover very high altitude and underground atomic and hydrogen weapons blasts. Such explosions, difficult to police in any event, could be covered in some subsequent agreement reached after the first problem had been solved.

U.S. Ambassador James J. Wadsworth and British Minister of State David Ormsby-Gore proposed dividing the nuclear problem into two parts with the idea of getting quick agreement on the types of tests easiest to detect.

The ending of such tests also would avoid any health hazards to the world's population.

The sources pointed out that the United States and Britain would prefer an agreement covering the entire range of tests. But the Western powers recognized that this conference, which began its deliberations on Oct. 31, now was bogged down on East-West differences about controls.

Presumably the limited agreement now suggested as a first step would require less elaborate policing arrangements than a total ban. The Western powers, however, want foolproof controls built into any type of agreement they sign.

MISS SWISHER, JOHN C. BRYAN ARE WED HERE

Miss Rose Marie Swisher, Cincinnati, Ohio, daughter of Mrs. Charles E. Swisher and the late Charles E. Swisher, 114 Chambersburg St., became the bride of John Clark Bryan, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Bryan, Centerville, Ind., in a semi-formal ceremony Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock in St. Francis Xavier Catholic Church. The double-ring ceremony was performed by Rev. Fr. Alexis Arnold.

The altar was decorated with palms, white gladioli and snapdragons. Miss Patricia Bushey sang "Lord at Canaan's Wedding Feast," "The Lord's Prayer" and "Ave Maria."

MRS. JOHN C. BRYAN

The bride was given in marriage by her brother, Charles E. Swisher. She wore a full-length gown of heavy white silk with chapel train and long sleeves ending in points. Her scalloped neckline and front dress panel of lace were trimmed with iridescent sequins. Her elbow-length veil was attached to a headband made of pearl orange blossoms. She carried a bouquet of white roses and stephanotis with a center of white cymbidium orchids.

Three Attendants

Mrs. N. Neilman Craley, Jr., Red Lion, served as matron of honor. She wore a sunset-length dress of powder blue silk organza with full skirt and draped, shirred bodice. Her headpiece was a cap of powder blue velvet flowers with matching accessories. She carried nosegay flowers in shades of blue, lavender and pink.

Miss Charlotte Rogers, Gettysburg, was bridesmaid.

GIVE GIFT TO COUNTY HOME

The Ridge View Quarter Horse Show, held last September at the farm of Mrs. Jean Heitzel, Gettysburg R. 3, resulted in the presentation of a three-speed record player, stand and record holder and the first in a series of assorted records to the guests of the Adams County Home Sunday afternoon.

Rev. Dr. Henry W. Sternat, Biglerville, was in charge of the program. It was announced that the Talking Book Co. of Philadelphia, will send long-playing records at regular intervals to the county home. The records will include articles from the Readers Digest, etc.

Attending the presentation were Mr. and Mrs. Wilson Clapsaddle, Little Valley Ranch, breeders of quarter horses who financed the show, and Deane Helman, of the Circle H. Ranch, McConnellsburg, who also gave financial backing. Arrangements for the regular supply of records from Philadelphia were made by Mrs. Robert Shearer, Springs Ave., Ext.

The second Quarter Horse Show will be held Aug. 23 at the home of Mrs. Heitzel also for the benefit of the county home. Co-sponsors will be Mr. and Mrs. Wilson Clapsaddle and Mr. and Mrs. John Eyer.

Mrs. Heitzel today asked donations of 75 and 45 RPM records to the county home.

Building Permits

Three building permits were issued by Burgess Wilbur Plank this morning to the following: Walter Johns, Fairview Ave., to construct a one-story brick case home and garage, 4x35 feet, at a cost of $14,000; John Grindler, to erect a one-story frame house, 28x32 feet, at an estimated cost of $10,000; Donovan D. ## Solon Frowns On Billboard On Battlefield

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Rep. Henry S. Reuss (D-Wis.) drew a bead on a billboard a few feet from a sharpshooters monument on the Civil War battlefield at Gettysburg.

The monument is dedicated to Company G of the Wisconsin Volunteers, part of a picked group of Union sharpshooters in the Battle of Gettysburg. It shows a life-size figure of a sharpshooter with a rifle. Right next to it is a sign advertising a restaurant-motel at Gettysburg.

Reuss said he has written a protest to the owner of the motel, asking him to remove the "unsightly" billboard as a favor to the state of Wisconsin. Furthermore, Reuss has suggested that other signs, souvenir shops and the like be cleared out of the Gettysburg National Military Park.

YORK SPRINGS HIGH ALUMNI HOLD BANQUET

Dean R. Hoffman, Dover, was elected as the new president of the York Springs High School Alumni Association at the organization's annual banquet meeting in the cafeteria of the York Springs Elementary School Building Saturday evening. The retiring president, Melvin Prosser, presided with 265 present. A roll call showed 160 of those present were former grads. It was the 35th annual gathering of the alumni.

There were talks by the Rev. Amos D. Meyers, supervising principal of the Bermudian Springs Joint School district; M. Francis Coulson, assistant county superintendent of schools and a York Springs alumnus; and Leonard Myers, who brought greetings from the East Berlin High School Alumni Association.

The Rev. Mr. Meyers was given a rising ovation by the gathering for his services in the building program for the new Bermudian Springs High School. He told the group the new school should be ready for use in a year and a half.

Plan New Unit

There was a report from a committee of alumni organizations after the new school is opened. The report suggested that both York Springs and East Berlin High alumni continue their associations and that a new one be formed for the Bermudian Springs High School.

Officers named in addition to the new president include: Robert Cashman, Biglerville, vice president; recording secretary, Mrs. Jean Townsend, York Springs; corresponding secretary, Miss Geraldine Livingston, and treasurer, Allee Keefe, both of York Springs.

Group singing was led by Dale H. Roth and there was special music by a quartet including Linda Roth, June Griest, Kay Delp and Elaine Brough. They were accompanied by Mrs. Dale Roth. The main entertainment feature was patterned after the TV show, "The Price Is Right," with Jack Hershey as the master of ceremonies.

'Student Dress' Is PTA Panel Topic

"Student Dress at the Secondary Level" will be the subject for a panel discussion at the April meeting of the high school unit of the Parent-Teacher Association Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock in the school library. The election of officers will be held during the business meeting.

Attorney John A. MacPhail will moderate the panel whose members will include these parents and teachers: Miss Louise Ramer, Dr. Russell Rosenberger, Mrs. Norman Richardson and John C. Stahl and these pupils: Jackie Smith, Philip Reaser, David Minter and Lydia Imler.

Heavy Damage

The damage from the storm was estimated at between $100,000 and $500,000. The Bell Telephone Company reported 300 poles down between Biglerville and Arendtsville and the Cumberland Valley Company said it had about 250 poles down. The Lincoln Highway between Gettysburg and Chambersburg was blocked by fallen trees and wires. Hundreds of telephones were out of service.

Fruitmen said buds were not damaged by the snow but some trees had been broken down by the weight of the snow.

Members of the Class of 1928 at Gettysburg High School had particular reason to remember the snowstorm. They were giving their annual senior play the night of the 27th to raise funds for their Washington trip. The lights went out and the seniors finished their play under the dim glow of the emergency lighting system which itself failed as the play crowd left after the final curtain. The play was "Come Out of the Kitchen."

RARE APRIL SNOWFALL IS HEAVIEST HERE IN 31 YEARS

The heaviest April snowfall here in more than three decades blanketed the county under about three and a half inches of snow Sunday.

The state Highway Department with snowplows dismounted and stored for the summer months quickly got three or four plows into action by 4 p.m. and dispatched them to mountain areas where the unexpected snow had piled up a little deeper.

The wet flakes clung to just about everything they landed on excepting busy highways and this morning's landscape looked at first glance like mid-winter but a closer looked showed golden forsythia, tulip or hyacinth blooms or early ornamental shrubs showing through the mantle of white.

One Inch In 1925

Gettysburg Times weather station records show that only once since April 28, 1925, has there been an April snowfall here that could be measured. Three inches fell that day and there had been a half inch earlier that month.

Thirteen Aprils in the last 36 years have had measurable amounts of snow but none could be measured here since a one-inch fall in 1935. Twenty-two Aprils had flurries but not enough to measure.

The record for April snows is held by 1918 when 19 inches fell in his month to complete the heaviest winter snowfall on record at Gettysburg. Those 10 inches made the winter's total more than five feet of snow. The only other big April snowfalls here came in 1916 which had 9 1/2 inches and in 1924 when nine inches fell on April 1.

Utility Lines Okay

Sunday snow started in true, mid-winter style shortly after noon and continued until after 9 p.m. The temperature was about 38 when the snow began and it was more than an hour before green lawns began to take on a white cover as the mercury dropped and the snow started to accumulate.

The Highway Department reported roads were wet but not icy until early morning when some de-icing crews were sent out to take care of bridges, curves, grade crossings and intersections.

Utility companies reported no trouble with the snow.

APRIL SNOW IN '28 CAUSED HEAVY DAMAGE

The last April snow of comparable size to Sunday's fall caused a lot more excitement and inconvenience than did this week's white blanket of which only traces could be found this afternoon.

The Gettysburg Times on April 28, 1928, told of the troublesome snow this way: "Belated Snow Storm Isolates County: Hundreds of Poles Down; Fruit Safe."

The news story said most normal activities had been "paralyzed" by the snow of the night before when most of the county was in darkness for five hours and Gettysburg and the county were isolated from the outside world.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A capricious April storm brought snow to Pennsylvania Sunday, dumping up to six inches in the western half of the state. The unexpected snowfall caught the Highway Department with its snowplows in motoballs and mo-
